WARN AMERICANS OF TREACHERY IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Told They Are Subject To Expulsion Or Confinement

U. S. EMBASSY EXPLAINS POSITION OF FOREIGNERS

PRAGUE, March 18—(AP)—The U. S. Embassy warned all American citizens living in Czechoslovakia today they are subject to expulsion at a moment's notice and may be held incommunicado for a long time if arrested.

The Embassy issued its warning in a circular letter mailed to all registered Americans citizens setting down "the facts of life" about the position of foreigners in this Communist-run state.

The letter apparently prompted by recent arrests of westerners in Russian dominated areas and more specifically by the growing number of expulsions here.

Americans were told that before making any personal plans they ought to keep in mind:

1. "American citizens may remain in Czechoslovakia only with the approval of the Czechoslovak authorities.

2. "The issuance of residence permits is discretionary and, according to law, such permits may be cancelled at any time.

3. "Recently there have been numerous instances of American citizens having been refused extension of residence permits and simultaneously ordered to leave Czechoslovakia.

4. "In recent cases involving arrest of American citizens by the Czechoslovak authorities, access to prisoners by American consular officers has customarily been denied by the government of Czechoslovakia or only granted after protracted delay."

American Consular Officer Carroll C. Parry said the circular letter was "a fairly routine" way of informing Americans about conditions.

"There's nothing unusual about the letter," he said.

WINTER HANGS ON IN EASTERN U. S.

Forecaster Predicts Icy Weather To Last Another Month

By The Associated Press

Twin storms hammered the plains states and north Atlantic region with driving snow and whining winds Saturday. Winter dug in for what may become a marathon siege.

In an experimental monthly forecast, Jerome Namias, chief of the weather bureau's extended forecast section at Washington, predicted 30 more days of unusual cold for the eastern two-thirds of the country.

One storm boiled eastward from the southern plains. The storm was picking up power and forecasters issued advisory warnings for possible heavy snowfall in northern Illinois and Indiana.

A vigorous storm center over New England brought lashing winds and snow to the northeast. The storm caused three deaths in upstate New York where an overnight snow up to 4 1-2 inches fell. Concord, N. H., had four inches, snow or snow flurries also occurred in Pennsylvania, and most of New England.

Election Polls To Open Here Tuesday

Five Candidates Seek Election To Ouachita Parish Representative's Seat; 15,650 Voters Eligible To Participate

Ouachita Parish voters will go to the polls Tuesday to select a state representative to succeed John E. Coon, who resigned to accept an appointment as the mayor of Monroe, following the death of George Breece.

A total of 15,650 persons had registered 30 days before the election date and are qualified to vote. Political observers have expressed the opinion that some 8,000 votes probably will be cast. The short campaign has been quiet and not a great deal of interest has been shown by the voters so far.

The polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Only the one race will be voted upon and it is expected that the outcome will be known by 9 or 10 p.m.

The five candidates, listed in alphabetical order, are as follows:

Paul Fink, a Monroe attorney who served two terms as state representative from 1936 to 1940. Fink, a native of this city who served in World War II, has been active in political affairs for a number of years.

E. M. Steen, a farmer and former business man, now residing in Ward 4. Steen came to Monroe from Mississippi more than 20 years ago and entered the grocery business. He later moved to his farm and devoted his time to farming and cattle raising. He once was a candidate for mayor of Monroe.

Lea Thompson, Monroe attorney who formerly was assistant United States district attorney. He was narrowly defeated for state representative when the late C. C. Bell was elected. He also is a World War II veteran.

R. C. White, Jr., young Monroe business man, a veteran who served considerable time in Germany during the last war. White has been active in civic work here and was named "Young Man of the Year" by the Junior Chamber of Commerce last January.

Ralph S. White, a resident of West Monroe for the past 30 years. White, a printer and editor, formerly was foreman at Trousdale Printing Company and more recently has been editor of the state publication of the Louisiana State Federation of Labor. He is vice-president of the state federation for the Fifth district. He also is an officer of the Monroe Central Labor Council and has been active in labor circles for many years.

Sentence Mrs. Madsen To 15 Years In Prison

Convicted Of Treacherous Murder In Death Of Her Husband In Germany; Defense Announces Plans To Appeal In Nuernberg

By Donald Doane

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 18. — (AP) — Mrs. Yvette Madsen, hysterical Brooklyn beauty, was sentenced today to 15 years in an American prison by a U. S. court which convicted her of treacherous murder in the shooting of her air force husband.

"Will they let me see my babies before they send me away?" The 22-year-old mother of two asked her lawyer as they left the court.

The question went unanswered. The children are under the care of her mother in Brooklyn.

After breaking up several court sessions with hysterical outbursts of weeping and fainting, Mrs. Madsen was surprisingly calm at the verdict.

She was pale and thin. She trembled. Her long dark hair was straggly. But she held herself erect, and she walked dry-eyed out of the courtroom from which she had to be carried several times during the two-week trial.

A room filled to overflowing, mostly with American women, heard the verdict.

The defense plans to appeal to the U. S. Court of Appeals in Nuernberg.

ATLANTA PAPERS TO FORM MERGER

Journal, Constitution Publish Front Page Statements

ATLANTA, March 18. — (AP) — The Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Constitution today announced an agreement had been reached for a merger of the two papers.

The announcement was made in front page statements published in both papers.

The Journal, an afternoon and Sunday paper, has the largest circulation in the South. The Constitution, a morning and Sunday paper, has the next largest circulation. They are the only dailies of general circulation in Atlanta.

The announcement was made by Clark Howell, president and publisher of the Constitution Publishing Company, and James M. Cox, chairman of the board of the Atlanta Journal Company.

"Rumors persist that the two Atlanta newspapers are going to be merged," the statement said. "We think the people are entitled to know the facts.

"It is true that we have reached an agreement toward merging the Constitution and the Journal. This agreement is subject to the approval of certain government agencies. It is assumed this approval will be forthcoming without undue delay."

"Economic reasons have played a large pat in dictating this move on our part," the statement said.

It gave no financial details of the merger.

Boy With No Blood In His Body Dies

TOLEDO, O., March 18 —(AP)— Richard Hady, five-year-old son of a Toledo grocer, died here today, he had not one drop of his own blood left in his tiny body.

The boy had undergone more than 150 blood transfusions, since he was nine months old. Doctors had injected about 20 gallons of borrowed blood into his tiny body, enough to change completely his own normal supply 50 times.

EXPLOSION RUINS HALF CITY BLOCK

Bomb Like Blast Is Followed by Fire; Three Persons Hurt

STATESBORO, Ga., March 18—(AP)—An explosion and fire demolished half a business block early today, leaving three persons injured and damage estimated at $300,000.

Firemen used blow torches, axes and saws to rescue two men trapped in the wreckage. One was in serious condition.

The blast, just at breakfast time, rattled houses and shattered windows blocks away.

"I thought it was a bomb," said Mrs. Betty Stringer, a telephone operator on duty in a building directly across the street.

Hagen said nobody was certain just what caused the explosion, but that he assumed leaking gas exploded when a furniture company employe lit a heater.

Fire equipment from seven surroundings towns and from Savannah, 50 miles away, brought the flames under control within two hours.

The blast was at the rear of a two story building occupied by the Bowen Furniture Company and the Oliff and Smith Feed store.

Fire spread to the Harry Smith Jewelry store, a pool room, and a barber shop in an adjoining one-story building.

Firemen found Kenneth Womack trapped in the rear of the furniture company, and Emmitt Anderson pinned under wreckage in the feed store. Womack was hospitalized with a broken arm, possible broken leg, and other injuries. Anderson's injuries were not serious.

CHINA RED HITS ACHESON'S TALK

Called 'Mosquito Trying To Shatter Fortress Of World Peace'

LONDON, March 18. —(AP)— Red China's prime minister, Chou En Lai, described U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson today as "a mosquito trying to shatter the fortress of world peace."

In a statement commenting on Acheson's speech Wednesday at San Francisco on U. S. Policy toward Asia, Chou asserted:

"The affairs of the Asian peoples must be settled by themselves and must never be interfered with by such American imperialists as Acheson and company on the other side of the ocean."

The statement was broadcast from Peiping and heard in London by the Teleradio Monitoring Service.

Chou, who is also Peiping's minister of foreign affairs, declared.

'Acheson said that America does not 'want to take anything' from the Asian peoples and does not 'want to deny them any opportunity, any freedom, any right.'

"In reality America not only acquired the Philippines and numerous strategic Pacific isuands years ago and got control over Japan and South Korea after World War Two, but is also attempting to control China, Indonesia, Viet

MONROE HOUSING PROJECT BIDS TO BE OPENED IN MAY

Frank Smith Elected Executive Director Of Local Projects

HOUSING AUTHORITY IS SHAPING FINAL PLANS

By Oland Silk
(of The Morning World Staff)

Under the Housing Act of 1949 Monroe was alloted 526 housing units for low-income families.

The plans for the fullfillment of that act are now underway and bids for construction will be open about May 15 for the first two projects—resignated as La. 6-1 and 6-2.

The housing units are part of reactivated projects which were stopped during the war.

What does this mean for Monroe? It means that in the first series of housing structures provided for by the government, Monroe will have 50 units for white residents—construction comprising of 22 brick buildings, one administrative building and three play areas for children, in addition to parking space.

The units or twin-houses will be furnished with kitchen cabinets, refrigerators and ranges. They will consist of one bed room, one living room—that is some will. One, two, three and four bed room units will also be constructed.

Joe Guerriero, chairman of the Monroe Housing authority, said that the location of the first 50 will be on South First street, bounded on the south by Magnolia Street, on the north by Pecan, east by South First, and west by Georgia street.

Of the first 126 units, 76 will be constructed for colored. The site has been announced as being bounded on north by Texas avenue, west by South "A" street, and east by South Eleventh street.

The colored project will com-

Completion Of Ouachita Valley Program Pushed

An aggressive campaign to expand the activities of the Ouachita Valley Association will be started immediately, it was announced yesterday by E. Gordon Wright, of Monroe, president of the association.

Advocates of a strong and active Ouachita Valley Association are pointing out the necessity of employing a full-time executive director, and placing the Associations affairs on a sound financial basis. They claim that the united efforts of the people in the valley who will benefit from long needed improvements will insure the consideration which these improvements merit.

The immediate goal of leaders in the valley, according to Mr. Wright, is to get approval of Congress of the comprehensive report of the Chief of Engineers, which was submitted last spring.

The report contained a recommendation for the improvement of the existing navigation channel so as to provide a nine-foot waterway from Camden to connect with the Mississippi River. With such an improvement nine-foot draft tows could be loaded at Camden, El Dorado and Monroe and pass directly into the Mississippi and beyond without the necessity for an expensive reloading. Direct shipment could be made to New Orleans and to any other points that are served by the Mississippi and the Gulf Intracostal Waterway. Savings in freight charges would be enormous. Army engineers, well known for their conservatism, have conceded that annual savings would be more than $1,500,000. The consultant employed to prepare a tonnage report estimated a saving of more than $3,500,000 a year.

The engineers report also contained a comprehensive plan for flood control in addition to the projects already authorized and under way. This plan calls for the construction of the multiple-purpose Degray Dam on the Caddo River near Arkadelphia and another of the flood-control dams on the Muddy Fork of the Little Missouri that is near Murfreesboro. The Degray Dam would reduce flood stages on the Ouachita at Arkadelphia and would generate 32,000 kilowatts of electric power. The Murfreesboro Dam would augment the flood protection provided by the narrows Dam on the Little Missouri, which is now nearing completion.

In addition to these major elements of flood control, the engineers report also contains recommentdaions for drainage and flood protection works at Pine Bluff, extension of the flood wall at Monroe and the construction of a levee and appurtenant works for the pro-

TRUMAN AT END OF STORMY VOYAGE

President Truman steps ashore from the yacht Williamsburg at Key West, Fla., after his tussle with seasickness on the stormy Atlantic. He is on a three weeks' vacation. The President said he couldn't eat during the cruise from Washington, and lost four pounds. Behind him is his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan. The general denied he was the worst sufferer from seasickness. "The President was more horizontal than I was," he joked. (AP Wirephoto).

11 Crewmen Aboard Hit Trawler Drown

Craft Sinks In Darkness Shortly After Being Rammed By Inter-Island Canadian Steamer Off Newfoundland Coast; Order Inquiry

HALIFAX, N. S., March 18.—(AP)—The trawler Gertrude de Costa was rammed and sunk early today after a hard luck cruise on the fishing banks and 11 men of her crew of 17 were drowned.

The inter-island steamer Connector, outbound for St. John's, Nfld., collided with the trawler in the darkness off Halifax harbor.

Both vessels are of Canadian registry. The 114-foot trawler was out of Yarmouth, N. S. All the dead were Nova Scotians except one from Grand Bank, Nfld.

Transport Minister Loniel Chevrier announced in Ottawa that an inquiry will be opened at once.

The Gertrude de Costa picked up only a light load of fish on the banks. Fishing has been poor this season. A few days ago a dory upset and one crewman was lost. His dory mate, Morton Tanner, was rescued. Tanner was one of the 11 who died today.

The trawler's skipper, Capt. Haslem Knickle, also went down with the ship.

Robert Parker, one of the half dozen men rescued by the Connector, said he was at the wheel just before the crash.

"We saw her coming and the skipper gave me the 'hard over' order," He said. "Then he took the wheel himself just before the crash. She hit us almost straight on at the after end."

The trawler's elderly cook, Edward Tanner, said a cry by someone to "lower the sail" awakened him just before the crash.

"I rushed out on deck," he said. "Someone near the stacked dories was yelling for a knife to cut them loose, but no one had one. I ran below and got one and took a couple of swipes at the ropes before she went under. My arms were twisted in the rigging as she sank. I still don't know how I'm here. I went down with her and then came up in the wreckage near a bunch of dories—somehow they got loose."

Inquiry Ordered To Find Why Stricken Ship Not Aided

BIG TRANSPORT IGNORED ELDER DISTRESS SIGNALS

By Leif Erickson

PEARL HARBOR, March 18.—(AP)—The nervy skipper and crewmen who saved the navy net tender Elder from explosion and fire in a week-long ordeal in mid-Pacific, vowed today to see their charred little ship into harbor.

All of the Elder's crew of 40 were found safe late yesterday, 26 of them in life rafts into which the skipper, Lt. William F. Adams, had ordered them when the fire spread Marc... 10.

Lt. Adams and 13 volunteers who had stayed aboard and snatched the Elder from doom after a long struggle, were located 17 miles away aboard their charred and helpless ship.

The Pacific fleet commander, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, today dispatched the traditional "well-done" signals to all hands involved.

But—the navy also started organizing an inquiry to find out why a military transport sailed near the stricken Elder last Monday without responding to frantic distress signals that included gunfire and flares.

Lt. Adams in a radiophone interview was outspoken about his failure to attract attention of the transport General A. W. Brewster.

The transport is en route to Yokahama from San Francisco. When the navy began inquiring about the overdue Elder on Wednesday, the transport reported sighting the missing ship Monday in no apparent distress 700 miles from its destination — the atomic weapons testing island of Eniwetok.

Lt. Adams said the Brewster passed within two miles and was in sight for an hour and a half but did not heed signals.

"We signalled with flares, international distress flags, smoke signals and mirrors," said Adams.

"We fired 20-millimeter guns and Very pistols. The crew jumped up and down on deck, waving anything they could lay hands on.

"We signaled with everything we had aboard except our 3-inch gun. If we'd had ammunition left for that, we would have used it, too."

The ammunition had been jettisoned while fighting the fire, which started at 2 a.m. Friday and was finally extinguished short-

EAST GERMAN MARK FALTERS

Value Drops Two More Cents; Collapse Is Paralyzing Trade

BERLIN, March 18.—(AP)— The Soviet zone's East mark plummeted in value to little more than two cents today. The collapse paralyzed trade in the Russian sector of Berlin.

Merchants held onto their goods rather than accept a currency which had gone down 30 per cent in 24 hours.

Rumors that the Russians would make their revalued ruble the monetary basis in the Soviet satellites, including East Germany, touched off the panic. A denial by the East German bank of Emission failed to brake the slide.

The situation dramatized Germans' faith in the West mark, which is backed by European recovery and the reputation of the American dollar. It is worth 23.8 cents.

Fifty-two money exchange offices, where Berliners trade East marks for West marks and vice versa, were thronged with long lines of persons trying to unload every East mark in their possession.

The exchange offices refused to handle any big amounts. They did business only with the small customers. They said they did not have enough West marks on hand to meet the demand.

Three Jail Escapees Still Unapprehended

Police still had not apprehended three prisioners who broke out of city jail Thursday night.

The escapees were reported as: Russell Lawson, 26, who had been charged with trespassing on property belonging to Frances Hotel; Carlton Eugene Heckford, 21, who was serving time on a drunk and disorderly charge, and A. M. Tannehill, 40, serving two hundred days in default of bond for drunk driving.

The three prisoners escaped by prying loose a window on the southwest side of the jail and shinnying down a rope made of a torn blanket.

Police said that the same window had been broken out of before, and the same technique used by escapees.

GEN. FAIRCHILD DIES SUDDENLY

Succumbs At 55 After Carving Long Career With Services

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—Gen. Muir S. Fairchild, second in command of the U. S. Air Force, died suddenly last night at the age of 55, after a long career in the nation's service.

Fairchild was stricken with a heart attack at his quarters in nearby Fort Myer, Va.

Born at Bellingham, Wash., on Sept. 2, 1894, Fairchild first saw service as a sergeant with the Washington State National Guard in 1916. Later that year he became a flying cadet, starting a military career which saw him rise to the high post of air force vice-chief of staff.

Fairchild was appointed a second lieutenant in the aviation section of the Army's Signal Corps Reserve in March 1918 while in France. From then until the end of World War I he flew bomber missions against Germany.

In 1918 he was discharged from service, and the following year he obtained a commission in the regular army as a flying first lieutenant. His progress from then on was rapid.

Monroe Police Will Check Automobiles

Teams of Monroe police officers will begin an inspection of automobiles within the next several weeks, it was reported yesterday afternoon.

The police department expressed hope that the "checkups" will help "check" accidents in the city.

Included in the inspection will be the checking of brakes, horns, the steering mechanism, and other operational parts.

After an automobile is inspected, police said, a black and white sticker, two iches square, will be put on the windshield. The last such checkup was conducted a number of years ago.

Police said that after the inspection gets underway, checking stations will be set up to accomodate motorists. But before the establishment of such stations, motorists will be stopped on downtown streets and their cars inspected by officers.

"The whole world knows that the U. S. government, in its attempt to annex China, has suported Chiang Kai-Shek in waging large scale civil war, denying the Chinese people any freedom or any rights, any opportunity to live in independence and peace."

Chou quoted Acheson as inquiring of the Chinese people "Why don't you ask for American aid? America wants so much to aid you.

"But from their personal experience," Chou said, "The Chinese people have realized what American co-called 'aid' means. It means death for millions, it means the loss of national freedom and rights.

"Since the Chinese rid themselves of American 'aid' things have got well for China and she has really become independent.

prise 30 brick buildings, five play areas—the former being 40 year construction.

At a meeting of the local housing authority Friday, the board of directors elected unanimously as the executive director of all the housing projects, Frank Smith, Jr., at the present time employed by the city as manager of Selman Field. The board of directors includes besides Guerriero, Fred Fudickear, Jr., Raleigh Poulous, Ira Cagle, and Sam Rubin.

Architects for the giant projects will be members of the Association of Housing Architects, Smith and Padget and L. Melton King.

It has been estimated that the first 126 units will cost in the neighborhood of a million dollars.

Housing plans for La. 6-3 and 6-4, to be ready for bids some time in September, will be turned over to architects within the next 30 days, Guerriero said. The land also will be purchased, although sites for the construction cannot be disclosed at this time.

La. 6-3 and 6-4 make up 200 units —86 for white and 114 for colored. They will be the second series which will conceivably get under construction this year following the bids for contracts.

The housing projects, Guerriero pointed out, have the wholehearted support of the school boards and city officials. He pointed out the tremendous success that New Orleans had had with their government grants-in-aid for slum clearance and the erection of recreation facilities.

Office space for the Monroe housing authority will be established at the Virginia Hotel, Guriero said, with the full employment of an office force.

ly before the Brewster moved into view.

Formerly an army transport, the Brewster recently was placed under navy control along with all other transports in the military service. The Brewster has an all-civilian civil service crew.

The Brewster's message Wednesday to the Hawaiian Sea Frontier said the Elder had failed to respond to visual signals but that the signal officer believed the reflection of the sun may have prevented the Elder from seeing them.

Adams said, "The Brewster flashed 'IMI', meaning 'repeat.' Then it flashed a signal we could not read and proceeded on its way."

A spokesman for the military transport service in San Francisco said "a complete report will be called for and any action necessary will be taken."

The dramatic climax of the Elder's adventure came late yesterday with a one-two punch.

Near sunset, a navy search plane sighted the small boat and five rafts containing 26 of the crew. They were quickly picked up by the dock landing ship Comstock.

Four and a half-hours later, after dark, the Elder was sighted by another plane. The destroyer-tender Piedmont soon came alongside to find Lt. Adams and his volunteer fire fighters safe and sound.

A DeSiard road bus Friday night — time about 10 p.m. on its eastward trip halted near the corner of Washington and 14th streets, by a young Negro man who darted out of a saloon for colored nearby. "Mister," he said 'would you all mind holding dis here bus, ah wants ter get my wife out of dere unt take her home! The obliging bus driver, John W. Roy by name, consented to delay a couple of minutes and the Negro darted back into the saloon which appeared overcrowded with men.

After a delay of two or three minutes the man reappeared. "You all kain go along. She aint a-goin' ter go home yit.' he said disconsolately. The passengers in the bus let loose loud laughter.

"All you need to see strange sights and have unusual experiences is just to drive a bus around Monroe," declared Roy.

From across the sea comes a clipping that Clyde Pohl has just received by air mail from his son in the diplomatic service in Cairo. It appeared in the Egyptian mail, March 11, 1950:

"Without Parallel"

"Jonesville, La., March 10.

"Mrs. Hurdie, aged 36, gave birth to a child on three consecutive days, which the doctor said so far as he knew was without parallel in medical history. "The first child, a boy of five pounds, was born on Tuesday. The second, a six-pound girl, arrived on Wednesday and the third, a seven-pound girl, yesterday.

"The doctor said that the father," stayed on the scene through the three days."

"With the triplets, he now has ten children —A. P.

Today the ever substantially growing Memorial Methodist church in the college area, will celebrate 5 years of existence. At the morning service, Rev. W. C. Mason, the first pastor, will preach and at the 7:30 p.m. service he will read the original church roll. At this service there will be a memorial to the three members who have died during the five year period. These are Mrs. Carl Walker, E. M. Waters and M. E. Parmer.

Over his desk in the city hall P. A. Poag, genial secretary-treasurer, has framed a picture that dates back to 1909. It shows about a dozen members of the Apollo club which flourished here at that time. Among these shown are Mr. Poag, Leon Hammonds and Will Washburn, all gay young blades of that time. A great deal of water has gone over the mill since then and the city of Monroe has gone a long ways from the little unpaved city that we hear it then provided for its residents. Mr. Poag, in his capacity at the city hall, has kept step with progress and in a quiet, unobtrusive way has contributed his bit to the onward growth of the city we now see here.

The American Red Cross staff passes on credit to Miss Mary Clay and Miss Mae Read, both of the staff of Northeast Junior College. Miss Clay arranged a very attractive Red Cross display in the reading room where among the books are "Clara Barton, Daughter of Destiny," by Percy H. Epler. "The American Red Cross, Report of Relief Operations," "The Ohio, Mississippi Flood Disaster of 1937" "American Red Cross Annual Reports for 1945 and 1948." "The N. Y. Times Magazine", February 26, 1950," "Touring with Marshall of the Red Cross". This display is on exhibition and the public is invited to inspect it.

Miss Read, secretary to Dean Rodney Cline, sent each faculty member an interesting letter stressing local needs of the Rad Cross in Louisiana.

The public is extended a cordial invitation to go to the Open House party that is scheduled at the St. Joseph's home, Sterlington Road, this afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. This is a really wonderful place where aged persons can receive hotel accommodations and expert care when ill. Many of the better known families in the Twin Cities have been represented there in the short two years that this establishment has been in operation. The public owes a great debt of gratitude to the Sisters who have made possible this provision for persons who require such accommodations.

Vote Your Choice—But Vote!

Voters of the parish next Tuesday will have an opportunity to cast their ballots in the first of four elections to be held within a month—an election to select a state representative to succeed John E. Coon, who resigned to accept an appointment as Monroe's mayor.

The short campaign has been relatively quiet and thus there hasn't been a great deal of interest manifested by the man-on-the-street. In fact, some persons have said that they aren't going to vote.

That isn't as it should be. The office of state representative is an important one; the man elected will represent his constituents in matters which vitally affect Ouachita parish and all of northeast Louisiana. Our highways, for instance, have been sadly neglected, and an aggressive representative from Ouachita could join with others from this section in leading the fight for relief. Other issues which have been elaborated upon in the past require the immediate attention of our delegation in the state legislature.

Five men are seeking the job. Three have sought public office before and two are newcomers to political campaigning. All have been active in their solicitation of votes and their platforms and their personalities should be known to most of the qualified voters by now.

Naturally, it should be the hope of all of us that the man best qualified to represent our people will be elected. If this end is achieved, it is the duty of every qualified voter to go to the polls Tuesday and cast his ballot.

Risk Of Hurting Living Men

Gen. George C. Marshall, former Army Chief of Staff and Secretary of State, says he won't write his memoirs cause to tell the whole truth might do irreparable harm to living men.

Says the general:

"Inevitably the press reaction—the public reaction—devotes itself to the critical item, although it may be only one paragraph in the entire book.

"You almost ruin a man. But if you don't mention that, it is not history, because it had a very important bearing on the procedure."

Many other men who have played a key role in the great events of America's recent past do not seem to share Marshall's attitude. Either they are less concerned about the impact of their disclosures upon living individuals, or they believe the importance of their story transcends whatever damage they may do.

Naturally there may be some, too, who choose to leave out vital parts of the story rather than offend principals whose part in the events may have laid them open to criticism.

We agree with Marshall that leaving out essentials to achieve a result that is simply "pleasant reading" is an unwise thing. It may be badly misleading to all but the most discerning of our historians.

As for whether or not to risk harming living men, that is an individual choice that each public figure must make according to his own conscience. But in our view, no man should bar for all time the telling of his personal chronicle of great events.

In other words, no one can rightly quarrel with the general for declining to speak out publicly at this time. But it would be a great loss to history if his version of events were never to be told.

Marshall is rated the great organizing genius of our victorious military effort. On top of that, he was our chief diplomat in one of the most puzzling periods in the history of U. S. foreign affairs. The historian can never gauge the war and early postwar days accurately without knowing what Marshall did, what he thought, how events appeared to him.

Some say the lessons of history are seldom learned. But we dare not assume man will not learn to draw more guidance from the story of his own past. That story, well and completely told, is inevitably filled with great instruction for his present course—on matter what the age he's living in.

Marshall owes it to history to set down his personal report on the war and its aftermath. Let him tell the full story, sparing no one. To protect any living men likely to be hurt, he can direct that his memoirs be kept secret until, say, 2000 A. D.

That way the general may live with his conscience, and he may know also that he has faithfully performed his final, inescapable duty as a high public servant.

U. A. W. Deserves A Bouquet

Quietest strike of the year, if not of the decade: United Automobile Workers' walkout at Chrysler Corporation's nation-wide network of factories.

The strike affects 90,000 workers. It's been on almost two months. Yet it's running a bad second to the daily weather report in the matter of total space in the newspapers.

There are signs the union wanted a quiet strike, as proof of its growing maturity. It wished to show that a labor organization could pursure its ends without resort either to violence or to flaming propaganda.

The U.A.W. may or may not have misgivings today as to the wisdom of this course. It may believe that a more dramatic campaign might have marshaled public opinion behind its pension demands.

It's our guess the union will come off just as well this way as by a more spectacular effort. If not better. And we think the U.A.W. deserves commendation again and again for having chosen to engineer its Chrysler walkout in this unmistakably grown-up manner.

In Washington With

BASCOM N. TIMMONS

If your favorite highway is bumpier than it used to be, and the state highway administration won't fix it, you are in no different situation than most of the country. Roads are cracking up faster than they can be fixed. Roadbuilders admit that the nation's highway situation will get wose before it gets better. There just isn't enough money, federal or state to rebuild roads at the rate they are wearing out, let alone build new ones.

What's happening can be traced largely to the tremendous road building boom of the '20 and early '30's. Much of the thousands of miles of highways built then, to accommodate the booming motor traffic, was poorly designed, and is now at the breakup stage, as the foundations wash out or wear out. With the return of heavy travel, and the record registration of 35 million automobiles, maintenance is eating up most of the available highway funds, leaving little for new roads.

The federal bureau of roads 650,000 miles of highway eligible for federal aid, complains that roads under its jurisdiction wear out twice as fast as they can be built or rebuilt. And maintenance costs of deteriorated roads are much heavier than of those in farily good shape.

State highway departments complain about the increase in truck traffic and the added wear and tear on the roads. But the money to build roads on the prewar scale just isn't available. Building and rebuilding will cost $2,000,000 this year, with an additional $1,200,000 for "patching."

Federal road specialists, who used to frown on toll roads, now admit privately that they may become the only answer to demands for new high speed highways connecting larger cities. Built from public or private bond issues which can be amortized over the life of the road, the toll roads would theoretically become toll free some day. But that doesn't do much for the "feeder" highways and country roads.

It's a far cry from the days of Aguinaldo, the Filipino rebel chief, who successfully held off the U. S. Army for months in 1899. Then the favorite song of the Americans fighting the insurrectos went:

"Underneath our starry flag,
We'll civilize 'em with a Krag,
And never leave our happy homes forevermore"

"Krag" was the Krag-Jorgenson rifle, predecessor of the Springfield. Only small groups of veterans sang the song at reunions for the next 40 years, except for one organization — the Military Order of the Carabao of Washington D. C. whose annual dinner or "wallow" heard the insurrecto song shouted by major generals, admirals and others of lesser service rank who had fought or served in the Philippines.

The order achieved terrific publicity in 1913 when President Woodrow Wilson, who had only taken office that year, ordered a severe official reprimand for the officers who had prepared and staged the skits at the annual Carabao dinner, ridiculing our Philippine policy and the "peacefulness" of the Secretary of State William J. Bryan. Wilson testiness to turn brought criticism on him, but he had effectively muzzled the high brass.

The Carabao began to fade away with the passage of years. Just before World War II, hardly a corporal's guard of real Phillippine vets could be mustered for its dinners. But with that war over and hundreds of new Philippine veterans around including many outstanding heroes, the famous Carabao wallows pack 'em in with such names as Halsey, Wainwright also Spaatz and Cates at the head table. There's talk of establishing corrals of the order in other cities.

At its recent dinner, the Carabao spunk was sputtering again. Before Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, and the civilian heads of army, navy and air force, the officer skit writers, who included Captain Walter Karig and Admiral Leland Lovette, two of the navy's best known authors took pot shots at their sitting duck targets, then turned on their own chiefs, General Hoyt Vandenberg of the Air Corps, General J. L. Collins of the Army and Admiral Forest P. Sherman of the navy with this chorus about armed service unification.

"Vandy, Collins and Sherman
Are having a wonderful time,
And everything's cozy like ring around rosy
Our outlook is really sublime,
Of course we keep smiles on our faces,
Life Rangers we're all man for man,
We're close to each other like Union and Jack,
We walk arm and arm on the unified track,
But always look for that knife in the back
That's Collins and Sherman and Van".

But the insurrecto song about civilization wasn't heard, and at the end of the dinner one of the loudest ovations was given to Brigadier General Carolos P. Romulo of the Philippines, presiding officer of the United Nations.

What Others Say:

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

THE GUBITCHEV CASE

Editors, in substantial majority, approve the deportation, rather than imprisonment, of the convicted Russian spy, Gubitchev. They see this move as depriving Russia of an excuse for reprisals against American citizens in Soviet and satellite areas, and preventing Russian propaganda from making a 'martyr' of Gubitchev. But a minority of considerable number fears that Russia and her satellites will view our action as weakness, and remain uninfluenced in their treatment of our citizens. Many in this latter group feel that we should have imprisoned Gubitchev and let Russia make the first move.

MOLINE (Ill.) Dispatch (Ind.-Rep.): "The state department asked for deportation of Valentin Gubitchev rather than imprisonment in the hope that similar lenience might be shown American citizens in Soviet-dominated countires of Europe and Asia . . . Recent disclosures of brutal treatment of defendants behind the iron curtain, leading to abject confessions of guilt, give little encouragement for thinking that our treatment of Gubitchev will have any effect upon the questionable methods of dealing out justice in the puppet countries."

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Post-Gazette (Ind.): "Certainly, the American businessman, Robert A. Vogeler, was allowed no alternative to rotting in a Hungarian prison for 15 years when that satellite summarily convicted him. But the trouble is that Americans are at a tremendous disadvantage behind the iron curtain, where legal due process . . . doesn't exist. So, as a purely practical matter, to forcibly detain Mr. Gubitchev in this country would risk exposing American personnel in Eastern Europe to even further harrassment."

EL PASO (Texas) Herald-Post (Ind.): "This seems a negative and conciliatory approach to the fruitless business of trying to get along with Russia . . . Certainly such a proffer of leniency can't apply to the case of Vogeler. . . . it would be accepting as a fact that Mr. Vogeler was a spy like Gubitchev and therefore a fair trade was in order. The state department has already denounced the Vogeler trial as 'devoid of justice, inadequate as to evidence and replete with falsehoods.' We think it would have been better to give Gubitchev the works—and let Russia be the first to make an offer."

NORFOLK (Va.) Ledger-Dispatch (Ind.-Dem.): "Gubitchev, the Russian employe of the United Nations, claims to be a 'diplomat' with the rank of third secretary in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. . . . A prison sentence for one who claimed diplomatic immunity, or for whom, correctly or not, an argument to that effect could be made, might invite reprisals by Russia and her satellites against Americans. The standard treatment for diplomats who commit offenses is to send them home."

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) Inquirer (Ind.-Rep.): "Red squeeze plays against American diplomats go steadily on, with no lessening of the trumped up charges of espionage against some of them. In the Gubitchev case . . . there was open-and-shut proof of his spy activities. Turning him loose because of quasi-diplomatic status, or hardly even that, is a disturbing precedent, even if there was no other way of ridding the country of him. Russian news agencies are hailing it as proof that the charges against Gubitchev were 'unfounded.'"

SAN FRANCISCO (Calif.) Chronicle (Ind.-Rep.): "The action does not necessarily assume that the Russians had justification in demanding diplomatic immunity for Gubitchev; the important thing is that it deprives them of an excuse for certain subsequent actions (including reprisals) . . . One can imagine the glee with which Pravda's editorialists would have bent to the task of exploiting his 'martyrdom.' His imprisonment would have been embellished by charges of solitary confinement and a dozen varities of torture, while his 'innocence' would have been cried throughout the world."

DALLAS (Texas) Morning News (Ind.-Dem.): "Actually, of course, Gubitchev is protected by the cleverly contrived situation under which luckless American nationals are practically hostage for his physical safety. So far as he is concerned, it is less important to secure his punishment than to demonstrate his guilt, as has clearly been done in open court. . . . The real guilt of an outrageous violation of United Nations security attaches not to Gubitchev but to his masters. It is Stalin and Vyshinsky who should answer, not before the bar of public opinion but before that of U. N. justice."

OUR CHILDREN

UNITED FRONT

The family should stand together loyally, and that means from father and mother to the youngest member. The relatives should have the same feeling, but certainly the immediate family must have it if they are to help each other and live together in unity as a family is supposed to do.

Parents sometimes make the mistake of unburdening themselves to friends and neighbors when one of the children has been more than usually annoying. The listener is deeply interested, flatteringly so, and very sympathetic. The parent of the troublesome child feels better and forgets all about the matecter. But the listener, that sympathetic friend, does not forget.

"That Bobby boy is a handful. His mother told me the other day—" and the Bobby Boy's thoughtless mistake is told with dramatic emphasis. Heads are shaken. "Tsk, tsk, too bad. Wouldn't you think they'd do something with him?" The story spreads and the Bobby boy gets a reputation for wickedness he never deserved.

No matter what a child does, nor how trying he is keep the trouble inside the house, locked within the family. No good comes of repeating an error. It should be attended to briefly and left to perish of denial and disapproval. It lives on recognition, attention and dramatic recital. If the tale must be told for the relief of the parent or for the assistance of the child tell it to the clergyman, the physician, the special servant whose profession is to deal with childish errors. Never spread such word outside the family.

This rule should be taught to the children. Loyalty within a family is a wonderful power for good among its members. In every group of children, there is one more striking in his differences than the others. He may be a thorn in the family's side. he belongs to the family and they must bear with him while trimming him to his proper size. That is their job and it does not concern the neighbors or family friends. It is human to enjoy the misfortunes of others and part of the enjoyment lies in telling others about it. This spreading of children's errors builds pictures of them often fantastic, that remain in the memories of people for a lifetime, often harmful, always embarrassing to the children concerned.

Keep the family concerns where they belong, inside the family.

When a new baby arrives, mother often has to train the grown members of the family as well as the baby. Adult interferences is discussed in Dr. Patri's booklet, No. 304. DOWN SOUTH

STICK TO OUR KNITTING

It is to be wondered sometimes what would occupy the attention of the people if it were not for the raving and ranting about the activities of Russia, and the cold war between the Communists and anti-Communists. So much space is given to this subject on the radio and in the newspapers and magazines and by public speakers that it seems to be the one topic that absorbs nearly all our attention.

I cannot help but think that too much of the people's time is being taken by these matters. Too many of our public officials are given to arousing the public along this line. Instead of Secretary Johnson stating in a public interview that we could "lick hell out of Russia", instead of General Bradley making a speech showing just how we could whip Russia once a war started, would it not be better for these leaders of our military organization to devote their time and their attention to building up a strong military force rather than arousing the amotions of our own people as well as of others throughout the world?

I cannot help but believe that the way to preserve deomcracy is by remaining strong ourselves, and stop spreading our words and our resources thin all over the face of the earth. Let us simply recognize once and for all that there can be no compromise with communism, and act accordingly. Let us "walk softly and carry a big stick", as advocated by President Theodore Roosevelt, and quit bragging about how we can win the future wars. If we are actually in position to win the next war, we don't need to brag about it.

As a matter of fact, it is to be wondered if we can survive the "winning" of another war like the last two wars. That is why I say it is so important that we stick to our knitting, that we ramain strong at home. As a result of the last two wars, we have taken a good part of the world on our back one more such war and Atlas can just move over and let Uncle Sam take his place.

Following the first world war, billions of dollars of both private and government funds were poured into the countries of Europe, until it became a standing joke that the answer to the question, "Where is the capital of the United States?" was, "It is scattered all over Europe." Most of this outpouring of our funds was in the form of loans, but it just as well have been gifts for all the repayments that were ever made.

Now, following world war two, we are finding that the cost of the first world war was picayunish by comparison. Not only the cost of the war, but the cost of the aftermath. We have poured our billions into the countries of Western Europe in the form of Marshall Aid and Atlantic Pact to build up a wall against communism. We have aided Turkey and Greece for the same purpose. We have aided China, but China, saved from Japan, is now won by Russia. We have let Russia split Korea in two parts, and we are helping the Southern half. We destroyed Japan, but we are now rebuilding Japan, and we hope as an ally. We helped destroy Germany, but we are now bearing the brunt of rebuilding Germany, and again perhaps we hope as an ally. We are bearing the main cost of rebuilding Italy.

What is the end? Are we to likewise send our billions to India and Indonesia and the Phillippines and Africa and the Near East and the Middle East and all the other lands of the world?

Now, as we have entered upon the most serious period of deficit financing in our peacetime history, we might well stop and ponder the question as to what extent the six per cent of the world's people located in the United States can support the ninety-four per cent located elsewhere. Especially, when we cannot even support ourselves and our present foreign aid without going into debt.

It is now becoming quite clear that our ideas along the line of "global aid" are rapidly getting too big for our pocketbook. If we continue to ruin the nation's economy only in this manner, we are headed for destruction anyway, regardless of any war we might engage in — hot or cold.

Bob Thomas:

IN MOVIELAND

HOLLYWOOD, March 18.—(AP)—Like most of the nation's major industries, the movies are faced with the problem of retirement of workers.

What happens to a worker when his years of usefulness are over? That question is becoming more and more important on the American social scene. Movie stars offer a unique and interesting sidelight to this problem.

Only one studio, M.G.M, has a full scale plan for taking care of its stars in their old age. However, only a favored few of its stars come under the retirement program.

Most other stars are not so fortunate. Rarely do actors stay at one studio more than 10 years and thus come into a position where the studio might possible feel responsible for their future.

Stars are largely responsible for their own destinies. They earn large salaries for a peak of five years on the average. They have to save what they can from income taxes and expenses. After they have reached their prime, there is only one direction they can go—down.

It is not easy for anyone to shed tears over the financial plight of movie stars. But to the stars themselves, decline from fame is a real problem, not only moneywise, but psychologically as well. Imagine if you were universally acclaimed and then suddenly not wanted. Let me cite some examples in our time:

Star A was a wartime sensation. Due to bad parts and the fragile nature of his talents, he fell from favor as fast as he climed. His boxoffice value was nil and he was dropped by his studio. He has done a few quickies and some vauderbille. But what does he do now?

Star B was a beauty queen for over a decade. Her well exposed body made up for her lack of acting ability. But now she's in her late thirties and younger lovelies have taken her place. What does she do now?

Star C was the symbol of the romantic hero. He's still a good actor but he's old enough to be the grandfather of the new romantic stars he was playing opposite. What does he do now?

So far Hollywood has not found the answers.

Billy Rose:

PITCHING HORSESHOES

HUGGER-MUGGER

As a burglaree, I've been doing a considerable amount of hanging around police stations lately, and I've made a highly edifying discovery—the average New York detective is plenty smart and, considering how few of them there are, gets plenty of results.

Although the police have not as yet recovered a single stickpin or signet ring of our stolen jewelry, I've been impressed by their determination to leave no wet rock unturned. Under two damp stones they've already captured half of the unwholesome four who broke into my house, and it's my hunch it won't be long before the other two bums are turned up or turned in.

(Incidentally, if the fence who has our stuff will contact me, I'll be glad to pay him double what he'd get in the open market. Many of the knick-knacks are of sentimental importance to my missus and me, and the insurance money we've already received doesn't begin to make up for the loss.)

To give you an idea of what the ordinary cop can do once he gets going, let me tell you the classic story of Detective Patty MacVeigh and how he solved the case usually referred to as "Hugger-Mugger in the Automat."

One morning in August, 1933, two people died suduenly and within a few minutes of each other in the nickel-in-the-slot restaurant at Broadway and 104th Street. One, a dowdy, old dame named Lillian Rosenfeld, keeled over in the restaurant's mezzanine, and the other, a middle-aged garageman named Harry Jellinek, was found outside the little boys' room in the basement. The coroner certified that both deaths were caused by a powerful does of cyanide of potassium.

Was it a case of double murder? Was it double suicide? Or was it murder and suicide?

Detective PaPtty MacVeigh was handed this sizzling spud, and went about cooling it off not like a Sherlock Holmes but like an ordinary policeman. He started by questioning everyone in the neighborhoods where the victims had lived; inch-by-inched the tenement flats they had called their homes; jig-sawed together a lot of biographical bits and pieces, and then came up with a solution so simple that no one connected with the case could imagine why it hadn't been thought of right away.

Jellinek's past was reconstructed easily enough. Starting as a helper in a garage, he had managed to save enough to buy his own business, and his garage had prospered until the depression hit it. When things got tough, he borrowed $150 from a bank, and when he couldn't meet the note on July 1, he was threatened with foreclosure.

Figuring he had nothing to live for, he purchased $3 worth of powdered cyanide and then, with his last nickel, bought himself a poppyseed roll at the Automat. He dug a hole in it, poured the powder in, bit off as much as he could chew and headed for the men's room. At the foot of the stairs he collapsed an died.

So far, so clear. Next, MacVeigh went to work on Lillian Rosenfeld. She had been a harmless old bat who scavenged around the junk heaps, and for 28 years had lived in a $7-a-month basement room which was filled with everything from old piano rolls to a rusty weather vane.

From employees of the Automat, the detective learned that on several occasions the old dame had parked herself in the mezzanine where she could watch the tables on the main floor, and when someone left without finishing a meal, she would hurry down and eat the remains or scoop them into a paper bag.

That finished the case. Obviously the scavenger had seen Jellinek leave part of his roll and had popped the half-eaten bun into her mouth.

MacVeigh's investigation uncovered an additional irony. While sifting through the hodge-podge in Lillian's room, he found six bankbooks which showed she had $45,000 stashed in various banks in Manhattan and New Jersey. The annual interest on her nest egg was $1,200, or eight times the amount Jelline needed to save his garage and life.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—What country in South America has no seaport?

A—Neither Paraguay nor Bolivia has a sea coast or seaport.

Q—Will a 10-pound solid steel ball thrown overboard reach the bottom of the ocean if it is six miles deep?

A—As water is not compressible, any piece of solid steel thrown overboard, regardless of weight, would sink to the bottom of the ocean at any depth.

Q—Did golf originate in Scotland?

A—The game of golf is of Dutch origin and was first played on ice. Just when golf was introduced into Scotland is not known, but in 1457 the Scottish Parliament issued a decree in an attempt to discourage its popularity.

Q—How old is the well-known children s poem "Mary Had a Little Lamb?"

A—Sarah Josepha Hale wrote this nursery rhyme and published it in her famous book of children's verses in 1830.

Looking Ahead

IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON —Repeal of the 10-cent-a-pound tax on colored margarine aggravates the problem of surplus butter—which may soon replace potatoes as the government's big farm surplus headache.

The agriculture department nolds about 80,000,000 pounds of butter bought last year to help bolster dairy prices. With a spring and summer of heavier milk output ahead, the department expects to have to buy still more. It already has about $50,000,000 invested in surplus butter.

Lifting of the oleo tax probably will result in a corresponding drop in oleo prices. But butter's price is held up by the price support program. It s feared butter sales will fall off and the government will have to buy still more. The support price is about 60 cents a pound.

Incidentally, the oleomargarine industry apparently got a lot of valuable free advertising out of last year's debate on the tax repeal, even though repeal failed then.

Oleo taxes brought the government over $23,000,000 in 1949 against some $14,000,000 in 1948.

Two Worlds?

WASHINGTON — (AP)— Secretary of state Acheson's speeches this past week pretty effectively spike any idea Russia may have had of proposing a "two-world" idea.

Events had begun to convince some of Acheson's advisers that, despite increasing harrassment of western diplomats in the Communist sphere, Moscow might be getting ready to suggest setting up spheres of influence so that it could consolidate its gains.

Acheson, however, chilled any such proposal in advance when he called on Russia to pull its police and military force out of its satellite states and "refrain from using the shadow of that force to keep in power persons or regimes" not commanding popular confidence.

Capital Briefs

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Nobody—not even its author, Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) —expects a bill to license movie actors and producers to pass congress. But the film companies are likely to get such a thorough going-over in hearings on the bill that they will hesitate to star anyone who might be open to criticism on moral grounds . . .

President Truman apparently was pleased at Sumner Pike's statement that he hasn't been hampered as acting atomic energy commission chairman because he is a Republican. But few think Pike will be named permanent chairman. In fact some friends say he would like to return to private life . . .

Back of the army's request for huge new appropriations for chemical and disease-germ warfare research seems to be a genuine worry that poison gas and germs may someday be used against the U. S. Maj. Gen. A. C. McAuliffe, chief of the chemical corps, has told a congressional committee "certain foreign nations are actively investigating and preparing for chemical and biological warfare."

Taxes

WASHINGTON —(AP)—House democratic leaders are worried over evidences of tax-cutting fever that have been coming out of the ways and means committee.

President Truman recommended a $655,000,000 cut in excise taxes, but the committee has already thrown that out. It may too have abondoned any idea of meeting other key recommendations that the cut be balanced by plugging loopholes in other tax laws and that another $1,000,000,000 be raised by new legislation.

A slash in the 20 percent tax on movie tickets seems certain, although Mr. Truman did not recommend it.

More Capital Briefs

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman's recommendation to congress to abolish the office of general counsel of the national labor relations board takes off some of the labor heat to repeal the Taft-Hartley act. Both AFL and CIO have demanded that the present counsel, Robert N. Denham, be removed as being pro-management. T-H repeal stands little chance in this congress—but actually the NLRB proposal faces rough sailing too . . .

John L. Lewis is reported attempting to get an agreement by trustees of the miners welfare fund to resume payments of pensions and other benefits April 1 or soon thereafter. The payments were interrupted during the coal strike . .

Officials who regard Poland's and fund as a political propaganda withdrawal from the world bank move find it a saddening note just the same. They say it demonstrates the Russian-controlled Polish government thinks chances of an improvement in East-West commercial-financial relationships is so negligible that "one of the last bridges to it can be burned."

In Hollywood With

JIMMIE FIDLER

HOLLYWOOD , March 18 — A movement (advocated by this column years ago, and now plugged by many exhibitors) to award Academy Oscars every three months, rather than annually, is being seriously considered. Producers believe it would aid exploitation and give the box office a needed lift . . . Jimmy Cagney has abandoned his plans for an independently produced pirate epic . . . Understand Merle Oberon, who said life wasn't worth living after the death of her Italian fiance, Count Cini, is now showing an interest in one of the Count's near relatives.

Have the Nan Grey-Frankie Laine marriage plans struck a snag? . . . Now it's Cecil B. DeMille who's plotting a super film on the development of atomic energy . . . I hear that Ava Gardner, who's been feuding with studio bosses ever since they chided her for romancing with Frank Sinatra, has informed them that she'll be unavailable "somewhere in Europe" for at least four months after completing a scheduled movie role in Spain . . . Brian Donlevy will produce an independent film based on his NBC radio program, "Dangerous Assignment."

Rex Harrison's ex, awarded heavy alimony by British courts but unable to collect it since Harrison has been in the U. S., has retained New York attorneys and will file suit in that city . . . Maybe somebody ought to advise Walter Winchell, who reported Ginger Rogers and Atty Greg Bautzer would marry this month, about California law. Miss Rogers divorce won't be final until next September.

Preview Nights: Pic of the week: Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Reformer and the Redhead" (June Allyson-Dick Powell-David Wayne). Hilarious comedy that will go far toward "reforming" the public's opinion of the screen as an entertainment medium; put it on your "must see" list . . . Good: MGM's "The Outriders" (Joel McCrea-Arlene Dahl-Barry Sullivan-Claude Jarman Jr.) Western drama, distinguished by a suspenseful plot, excellent performances and magnificient photography . . . 20th Century-Fox's "Under My Skin" (John Garfield-Micheline Prelle-Luther alder). Off-the-beaten-path felodrama about a crooked jockey and a curvacious mademoiselle . . . MGM's "Please Believe Me" (Deborah Kerr-Robert Walker-Mark Stevens-Peter Lawford). Too much about too little, but the comedy sequences are funny enough to offset plot weaknessess . . . Disappointing: Warner Brothers' "Barricade" (Ruth Roman-Dane Clark-Raymond Massey) A capable cast tries hard, but can't overcome a snail-paced story . . . Best Performance: June Allyson in "The Reformer and the Redhead."

Lawrence Tierney, who has climbed aboard that celebrated "wagon" innumerable times in the past few years, only to tumble off again, has a unique explanation for his latest relapse. He says that no one would take his "reformation" seriously, that a certain club where he used to live (and where he was involved in a half-dozen brawls) wouldn't readmit him despite his promise to be a teetoltaler. And so, he reasoned, why stay sober if no one's willing to give you the benefit of the doubt? What a pity it is that a man with Tierney's great ability has so little common sense. Hollywood has been remarkably patient with him. It has given him opportunity after opportunity on the strength of his easily-broken promises. By now, even he should be able to understand that neither promises nor a brief period of sobriety are enough. A man who has spent years in tearing down the confidence of his associates ought to be willing to spend a reasonable time in rebuilding it. Tierney will have to do just that if he wants to recapture his wasted success.

If there's any truth in the many stories I've heard about the irreverant doings of autograph hunters at the recent funeral services for Sid Grauman, I can't blame the stars who were pestered on that occasion for being enraged. I've always had a kind word for over-zealous fans. In the first place, most of them are kids, and in the second place the movie industry owes a lot to their kind of enthusiasm. But they're certainly going much too far when, in their efforts to get the signatures of stars, they create a near riot at a funeral. It's small wonder that many screen celebrities are turning thumbs down on all autograph requests.

For good clean irony, I like the report of an acquaintance who's just returned from Italy. He tells me that with half the producers of Hollywood rushing companies to that country because of the cheapness with which pictures can be filmed there, most of the Italian producers are transferring to movie-making activities to Egypt. It seems that pictures can be made even cheaper there.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

ACHESON AND "AMERASIA"

"Amerasia" was a small and unimportant magazine with a circulation of 1700. It was published by Philip J. Jaffe, a manufacturer of greeting cards with a left wing record. "Amerasia" was definitely pro-Russian.

In 1941, the American peace mobilization described Frederick Vanderbilt Field as executive secretary of the American peace mobilization and as editor of "Amerasia." In other places, Philip Jaffe is described as its editor.

In a listing of "party and party line publications," as of 1943, the house committee on un-American activities gives the following data with regard to "Amerasia":

"A review of America and the Far East.

"Published at 125 East 52 Street, New York, N. Y.

"Editorial board: Frederick V. Field, chairman; Philip J. Jaffe, managing editor; Lillian Peffer, assistant editor; Harriet Levine, secretary; T. A. Bisson; Ch'ao-Ting Chit; Kenneth W. Colegrove; Owen Lattimore; William W. Lockwood; Cyrus H. Peake; David H. Popper; William T. Stone. (From issue of August 1938, Vol. II, No. 6.)

"Editorial board: Frederick V. Field, chairman; Philip J. Jaffee, managing editor; T. A. Bisson; Kenneth W. Colegrove; Benjamin H. Kizer; William W. Lockwood; Kate L. Mitchell; Harriet Moore; G. Nye Steiger; Harold M. Vinacke (From issue of March 1943, Vol. VII, No. 1.)"

The address given is practically the same as that of the American council of the institute of Pacific relations, at that time being one of a series of connected buildings. Frederick V. Field was in top management of the institute of Pacific relations.

Philip J. Jaffee was at that time also a contributing editor of "China Today," a left wing publication. He was also on the editorial board.

On June 6, 1945, the "Amerasia" offices were raided and 100 files of documents from the state and other departments were seized. Philip J. Jaffee, Lieutenant Andrew Roth, USNR, formerly with naval intelligence; Emmanuel S. Larsen, specialist in the China division of the office of Far Eastern affairs, state department; John Stewart Service, foreign service officer in the state department, formerly stationed in China; Kate Louise Mitchell, co-editor of "Amerasia"; Mark Julius Gayn, free lance writer on the Far East, were arrested in New York and Washington, charged with conspiring to violate a law dealing with unauthorized possession or transmittal of defense data.

Here was positive proof of a gang in the state department and other government departments who were engaged in stealing secret or other files of government and taking them to a place where great quantities of photographing equipment were available. Here was the key to everything that developed in the Alger Hiss trials.

Representative George A. Dondero charged that one of the documents was a complete statement of the disposition of the Chinese Nationalist armies. Such a list, in the hands of the Chinese Communists, would of absolute benefit to them.

So what happened? Philip J. Jaffee pleaded guilty and was fined $2,500.

The rest got off. John S. Service, one of those charged in this, is actually in the department on a high policy level. Since June 7, 1945, Service has held the following positions: political adviser to supreme commander of allied forces in Japan, 1945; first secretary of American legation in Wellington, New Zealand, 1946-48; duty at state department since 1948. Emmanuel S. Larsen is no longer in the department and has written an article for the magazine "Plain Talk," exonerating himself.

The full record of the case, the hearings in the state department and the reasons for exoneration and "whitewash," and for keeping the case out of the courts, have never been adequately given. No one knows precisely why the state department let this espionage case die.

Dean Acheson was then assistant secretary of state; Joseph C. Grew was under-secretary of state. Grew was for going into this case thoroughly; Acheson was opposed to this policy. On August 15, James Byrnes was appointed secretary of state, and both Acheson and Grew tendered their resignations. Grew's was accepted and Acheson was appointed to Grew's position. The "Amerasia" case was allowed to die.

P. M., Marshall Field's paper in New York, commented:

"Now state department policy has a better appreciation of what Soviet Russia wants."

The career of Mr. Acheson until a week ago was always just like that.

ARMED FORCES DECLINE

WASHINGTON, March 17. —(AP)— The total strength of the armed forces declined 22,400 during February to 1,490,300.

Reporting this today, the defense department said all services shared the decrease. During the month army strength dropped from 615,700 to 607,800, the navy from 401,900 to 388,400, the marine corps from 80,100 to 79,500, and the air force from 415,000 to 414,600.

Russia did not adopt the Gregorian calendar under which most of the world now operates until 1918.

Hal Boyle's

NOTEBOOK

NEW YORK, —(AP)— There is a great and growing religious revival in America. ?

Significantly, it is spreading widely among the youth of our post-war generation, the generation that is usually a prey to doubt, disillusion and cynicism.

Recently I received a letter from one of these young people—Miss Josephine Owens of West Helena, Ark.—that told of the happiness her awakened faith had brought her.

Her letter was simply written, artessly sincere, fervent with a desire to help others. She said I could give her letter a wider audience if I wanted to, "because it is so important that people wake up."

And so I will. Here is one girl's Lenten sermon—an old message from a young and zealous heart:

"Oh, if I could get everyone to become a Christian, what a blessing it would be—for them!

"I used to worry continually about money matters, the Hydrogen Bomb, etc. Now those things aren't important at all. Only God is important in my life. I only want to live so that I can serve Him. He will keep me from harm—and also anyone else who will believe in Him and trust and have faith.

"God has made me a 'fisher of men.' My purpose now is to win others for Him. But people are hard. They don't want to know about God. But once they do, then they see what they have been missing.

"God does many things for men which they take for granted. Think of the air, the sun and rain, the clothes we wear, the food we eat—and so many, many other things. God makes all these possible, but people take them for granted. If they don't get them they raise all kinds of cain about the senators, the president and the governors—when, if it weren't for God's good hand, these things would never even be."

"You say it is difficult to be a Christian? Well, dear people, once the loving Saviour has truly touched your hearts, you won't want to do wrong. You will only want to do the Lord's will.

"Oh, dear people, wake up! Know and accept Christ as your Saviour. Give your heart to him. Serve Him and He will truly bless you. Repent of your sins. Confess your sins, believe in him, obey his will, and you will receive a greater joy than any you have ever known."

William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Lesson Sunday School

The rapid and remarkable growth of early Christianity is summed up in the brief, concentrated statement in Acts 19:20, "Mightily grew the word of the Lord, and prevailed."

There is the secret of the motive power of early Christianity and for that matter of Christianity ever since, wherever and whenever it has displayed phenomenal effectiveness and growth.

These early Christians were responsive to the word of God. A Psalmist, many years earlier, had written, "Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against Thee." For these devout Christians, deeply responsive to their Scriptures, the word of God had become incarnated in the word of a living Christ, whom some of them had known, with whom they had walked and talked and with whom they had sat on a mountain slope, as He revealed the good news of the Gospel and the mysteries of the Kingdom of God.

The word of the Lord was for them a word of enlightenment. In Paul's conversion 'there fell from his eyes as it had been scales," and a typical experience of those who came in contact with Jesus, and listened responsivley to His words, was, "We never saw it on this fashion" (Mark 2:12). It was a word of enlightenment.

The word of the Lord was for them a word of life—a word of new life. Paul described the experience in crisp words of fact, "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (II Corinthians 5:17). And the effect of that expression "in Christ," was as much as to say in whatever place one lived. Christ was their environment their atmosphere, the place where they lived.

Needless to say, the word of the Lord was for these Christians a word of love. The warp and woof of all that Jesus taught, manifested and revealed was in that word of love. The new commandment that He gave to His disciples was a commandment of love.

But the word of the Lord, being a word of enlightenment, of life, of love, was also a word of command; and it was in obedience to that command that the disciples went forth to make the Gospel effective in words and deeds, to prevail (what a fine word that is!) over the licentiousness of ancient cities, over ignorance and paganism and over the forces of persecution that sought to destroy them, their movement and their message.

It was faith in their Master, reinforced by the power of His resurrection. But that faith was more than belief, or intellectual assent. It was acceptance of a new life, a new way, a new world of truth, and right, and love—a kingdom different from the kingdoms of the world, with different standards, principles and values. Back of faith was the vision and based upon faith was action.

Is it any wonder that the word of the Lord grew and prevailed? Has it not always been so when men and women have taken their Master seriously, and have really lived the Christian life that they have professed? Vital Christianity is the world's supreme need. But, alas! much of our professed Christianity is only conventional and formal, untouched by the true spirit of Christ.

SMART KITTEN STEALS SHOW

Kitten on the keys is not so dumb—scientists find animals are smart.

Dogs, Horses Aren't So Smart Compared To Coon

By VANCE PACKARD
(AP Newsfeatures)

Most Americans are under the impression that the smartest animal in the world is the dog or the horse. Actually the dog is a moron compared with a raccoon. And the horse is a rattle-brained nitwit when compared with an elephant.

Scientists have speculated for years about which is the brainiest creature in the animal world. The evidence now indicaets that , at least on the basis of tests made, the chimpanzee heads the class.

Chimps can perform feats of reasoning that are beyond some primitive human beings. And in tests they have outreasoned typical five-year-American youngsters. Prof. Harry F. Harlow, head of the University of Wisconsin's large primate laboratory, states that in some tests the chimps "actually did better than most of the children."

It is not difficult for a chimp to figure how to get a banana suspended far beyond his reach if any boxes are in sight. He will usually usually quickly get the idea of the boxes to make a platform. Many three-year-old children still can't get the idea of stackin ga a few blocks to build a tower.

The average chimp can saw wood, hammer nails, sweep up the floor and use a screwdriver as competently as many pre-school youngsters.

A chimp, of course, is a member of the monkey family. The monkeys are almost all mental wizards by animal standards. Monkeys will figure in a few seconds how to open a puzzle box that will baffle dogs for hours.q .

The standard puzzle box is so easy for a monkey that he will quickly become bored with it. Only when you introduce tricky locks, T-latches and combination serial locks will you cause the monkey to start scratchin ghis head. Once he has learned the secret of a lock it never again troubles him.

Outside the monkey kingdom the animal that has probably impressed psychologists most with its brilliance is the raccoon of American woodlands.

In the psychologist's laboratory the 'coon is a riot. He will put his paws into the psychologist's pocket just to see what is there and he will go back into puzzle boxes after he has opened them just for the fun of operating the gadgets (even though the food bait is no longer present.)

The elephant, investigators are finding, has a really jumbo-sized mind. The elephants tested at the Bronx Zoo caught on very rapidly to the idea of pulling strings to get hidden food, in the shell game test.

And in the teakwood jungles of Southeast Asia investigators are finding that elephants casually perform tasks requiring a high order of brainwork, much higher, for example, than the work expected of a farm horse. They stack huge teakwood logs neatly into piles. And they give every sign of comprehending a mechanical principal, which is extraordinary for animals below the monkey. One mechanical principle they seem to understand is the log slide. They place logs on the slide, maneuver them carefully into position with their trunks, then give them a push with their front foot—and watch critically while the log swooshes down into the water.

Smart Chimp gets a laugh.

One final animal that apparently deserves mention among the world's brainiest animals is the coyote. Although widely despised by sheepmen and cattle ranchers, th coyot is crafty and a genius at adapting himself to all conditions. He has even been known to hitch rides on wagons or moving flatcars. One authority on coyotes reports they kno w how to disguise themselves. . .how to play jokes an dtrick other animals. . .how to imitate the sounds they hear. . .ho wto get through barbed wire fences. . . and how to hunt cooperatively.

Men who set out trap lines for coyotes often find that every trap on the line has been sprung. And when they investigate they often find coyotes sneaking along behind them. The coyote can best be trapped by playing on his great curiosity. (Curiosity is an index of intelligence.) One trapper reports he has had excellent luck catching coyotes by burying an old alarm clock near the trap. The coyote becomes so intrigued to find what causes the ticking that he steps ac cidentally onto the hidden trap.

IS A POLICEMAN 60 YEARS

DENVER —(AP)— H. Rugg Williams, Denver's deputy police chief, is well into his 60th year in the department. He was only 17 when he became a rookie cop in 1890.

Plague was regarded by many in medieval Europe as a manifestation of divine wrath.

Mexico, Germany In War Over Meat

MEXICO CITY —(AP)— Occupied Germany and this ancient Aztec capital are in a tug-of-war over fresh meat. Mexico doesn't have a year round supply of fat cattle for both herself and foreigners. Allied authorities bought fresh meat here to be added to the ration of German coal miners and thus persuade them to keep on being miners.

Mexico City has long relied on the rich Huasteca plain for its beef. The Huasteca doesn't have enough to go round. Mexico City butchers said the cattle were being sold in Tampico. The government then banned export of Huasteca cattle.

This brought a protest from the Allied occupation authorities in Germany. They said the interruption in meat shipments endangered their program in Germany. The situation is further complicated by Mexico's need for dollars. Meat shipments are paid for in dollars.

Television Presents Problem For Actors

NEW YORK, —(AP)— Acting for television is the thespian's toughest assignment yet, say those who have tried such other mediums as stage, screen and radio.

Television is the most difficult, they explain, because an actor must learn a complete scrip, go through a performance without a stop, and, if he makes a mistake, must work his way out the best he can.

In the movies, only a few lines need be learned at a time as scenes generally are taken section by section. On the stage, the actor learns his part once and then keeps doing it over and over. And on the radio, all he need do is to read the script with the proper vocal embellishments.

German Science Gives Aid To United States

ATLANTIC CITY, —(AP)— "The United States is just beginning to reap the benefits from the huge amount of scientific information captured from the Germans after World War II", says Col. Harry A. Kuhn, U. S. A. (retired), president of the Armed Forces Chemical Association.

"The government so far has released more than 100,000 reports with data on synthetic fuels, jet missiles, chemical warfare agents and other subjects, but it will take years to evaluate all the information," he told the American Chemical Society.

Some of the more important German developments were the Fischer-Tropsch process for making synthetic oil from coal; the manufacture of high concentration hydrogen peroxide; production of white carbon black; the fire-fighting fuel chlorobromomethane; a synthetic substitute for mica, and new insecticides.

Antibiotics Good

NEW YORK, —(AP)— There are 200 known antibiotics. But only four, penicillin, streptomycin, aureomycetin chloromy-cetin, have proved generally useful.

Beggars In Monroe Are Applying More Improved Methods

By Oland Silk
(Of The Morning World Staff)

A species of traveling coffee-drinkers is breaking out hereabouts which purports to prove by the gauge of the man in the street that a depression of some description is approaching.

These fellows who follow the coolie practice have not only been worrisome but their technique has improved over their bretheren of the 1930's, consequently making them a menace to the sensitive and the naive.

The reference is made to those masters of the ambush—the bums.

Hardly a week goes by that one does not approach you with his bite camouflaged by preliminaries that are likely to catch anyone unawares. You can't tell whether they're going to ask you about the street to the nearest bar, who is the best doctor for the blind staggers, or the best solution for mother-in-law trouble—so artless and oblique is their introduction.

The art of their racket is simple: the hard luck story is streamlined into killing effect. They get their troubles in your mind by their very hesitancy, and before you know it you have coughed up a dime or a quarter.

To the unworldly who haven't had the finger put on them by these nondescript psyhologists, the question might be asked, whereforth do they hangeth out?

They hangeth out in green pastures for their residence is the universe; they layeth down in a bed of roses with only the thorns of refused contributions pricking them they claimeth no reward except the reward of their labors, 'how about a cup of coffee, bud." They leadeth not into temptation because they have already been there and were whipped by it.

And panhandling to them is a nasty word.

The routines they pull are comic-opera. The good ole boy routine is one in which you hear near watering places, often in tones indisguishable on the first encounter. These bums in particular look as if they're on a good will tour and just need the price of a drink to further the cause.

But on an average the ones who register more coup d' etats are those who hang out on the side streets, waiting for a prosperous looking sucker. They are the ones who wait until you are just a step past them, and then pounce with the old psychology. Most anybody will stop when beckoned from behind. And to them that is half the fight.

Whereas the depression bums might sit down in a restaurant and fill up, telling the owner at his satiation point, "I ain't got no money to pay you, what yuh going to do about it," nowadays it's different

For instance, one ordered a beer in a restaurant recently remodeled not too far from the World offices. He called the owner over and flattered him on the appearance of the place. Then: can you cash a $2 check? Is it a personal check? Yes . . . I'm sorry we don't cash personal checks . . . Well, I can't pay you then . . .

His depression bretheren would have ordered a couple of hamburgers to go, telling the waitress to hurry it up, they had to catch a train. When the burgers arrived, they and the bum went out the door and onto a box-car—through freight.

But in those days it was no disgrace to bum. Jobs couldn't be found. Now there is no such excuse to console the begger, not counting of course the afflicted.

The sustaining philosophy of the hard-luck spewers, the brazen, and the lazy, good for nothings, is that in this country somebody will help a guy when he's down . . . provided he isn't seen down in the same place too often.

WINDY CITY PROUD

CHICAGO —(AP)— The first direct long distance telephone line between the United States and Alaska was opened recently. Mayor Martin H. Kennelly of Chicago spoke with Gov. Ernest Gruening of Alaska, at Juneau, beginning with this message:

"Hello, Governor. It's good to hear your voice; this equipment was built right here in Chicago."

BLACKSMITH HARTLEY IN 1909, IN 1950

C. P. Hartley was a blacksmith in Monroe back in those "good ole horse and buggy days." He's shoed as many as 16 horses a day, not counting repairs made on buggies, carriages, etc. Hartley can remember in the not-to-long-ago when Liggett's drug store was a blacksmith's shop and the Delta theater and J. C. Penney were large livery stables. Above (left) Hartley poses for his photograph (1909) at the corner of Fourth and Jefferson streets. Hartley (right) is shown working at his welding-ironworks shop at 1203 DeSiard street. He's been there since 1926. (Photo at right by Leon Noland, Jr.)

Village Blacksmiths Once Helped Transportation In This Vicinity

By Percy Fant
(Of The Morning World Staff)

'Twas a time—in the Twin Cities—when blacksmith shops and livery stables were as important to transportation as the service stations are today.

"Ole dobbin" had to be shoed, fed and attended to back in those days, just as much as today's automobiles, trucks and tractors require mechanical repairs, oil, water and gasoline.

The horse and buggy days, in this area at least, are vanished say for a few die-hards that still contend that it's more economical to hitch "dobbin" to a buggy, cart, carriage or wagon and a "person couldn't ask for better transportation." But for speed, even these few must admit that the 1950 model, engine-powered vehicles have something on the horse and buggy, to say nothing of those persons who prefer traveling by air at a maximum speed.

Blacksmith shops in Monroe and West Monroe were common back in the days when it was customary for the ladies to wear their skirts below their ankles, their hair' bout as long as it would grow, and when it wasn't uncommon to suddenly discover, after a rainy night, that DeSiard street was one mud hole after another.

Most certainly it is hard for the younger generations to believe that once downtown Monroe and West Monroe were dotted with livery stables and blacksmith shops. It is hard to believe that a large livery stable, capable of housing 30 horses or more, once occupied the site where J.C. Penny's merchantile store stands now, and that mighty blacksmiths once shoed as many as 15 to 20 horses per day at a shop where Liggetts drug store is now.

Perhaps the last of the old time blacksmiths, the ones that shoed horses for local residents, is E.J. May, who retired from his shop in West Monroe over a year ago. May now lives at 215 Miller street, West Monroe.

No doubt horses and mules were better at pulling their wagons and buggies through mud holes back before DeSiard street was paved than are the juiced-up modern motors. Paved first with bricks around 1900, DeSiard was, in 1914, made more convenient for motor vehicles with smoother pavement, that cut down considerably on the jars and jolts.

A man that probably knows more about those by-gone days than most of the present inhabitants of this area is C.P. Hartley, one of the more noted blacksmiths of the early 1900's. Hartley has changed his occupation of shoeing horses to operating a welding-ironworks shop at 1203 DeSiard street. He's been at that location since 1926.

Hartley's career began back in January, 1899, when he learned blacksmithing at a site now occupied by the Earle Hotel. After eight months there, he moved to a shop at the corner of Sixth and DeSiard streets, then on to another shop at Fourth and Jefferson streets, and from there to a shop on the corner of Hall and Harrison streets. In 1926 he moved to 1203 DeSiard, the site of his present shop.

He says, on the average, back in "those good ole horse and buggy days," he shoed as many as 12 to 15 horses each day, repaired wagons, buggies, carts, etc. Hartley explains that the Columbia and the Banner buggies were the most popular. As for carriages, he said, they were used mostly for taxis, weddings and funerals.

At his iron works shop here, Hartley has two men employed. He was born at Baton Rouge Jan. 11, 1881, and has a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Reed, who lives in Texas.

Travelers of today really have it easy. They "cuss" up a storm when their motored slave acts up with some loose screw or has a flat at just the wrong time or gives out of gasoline at the darnest place, to say nothing of the motor's failure to start when the driver is late for work.

C. P. Hartley, owner of Hartley's ironworks and welding shop, 1203 DeSiard street, learned long ago how to use a hammer. (Staff Photo by Leon Noland, Jr.)

Those points would indicate that "dobbin" still has a place in this vicinity — and perhaps somewhat of a chance for a comeback, so certain people might argue.

But it's no overlooking the fact, when the automobile is in working order, it's much easier to walk out your front door, flip a switch, press on the starter and move on, than it is to go out and prepare a horse and buggy for a trip.

Perhaps Longfellow had all this in mind when he wrote his tribute to blacksmiths, entitled: "The Village Blacksmith."

Babe Ruth School Forced To Close

By GEORGE A. BOWEN

BALTIMORE — The training school where Babe Ruth learned to play baseball is to be closed.

St. Mary's Industrial School will shut its doors June 30. It will be the end of 84 years of training more than 20,000 orphan and delinquent boys.

St. Mary's Home was its popular name in Baltimore. Throughout the nation for the last two decades or so it was better known as Babe Ruth's home.

It was home to George Herman Ruth as boy and youth for most of his 12 years between seven and 19. Contrary to the belief of many, he wasn't an orphan. His parents sent him to St. Mary's to get him away from the saloon they owned.

The Babe would have spent two more years in the school if it hadn't been for baseball. Sports-minded brothers of a religious order spotted him as a natural and convinced Owner Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Orioles to give him a tryout. Dunn had to sign legal papers making him guardian until Ruth became 21.

It was the start of one of the diamond's greatest careers. In the same year, 1914, Ruth was sold to the Boston Red Sox where he made his name as a pitcher. Later he became the Sultan of Swat with the New York Yankees.

The Babe's fame reflected on St. Mary's and it was proud of him.

Fire destroyed the school in 1919. The Babe helped raise money for rebuilding. He took the school band on a western trip to give concerts.

St. Mary's was founded in 1866 by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Baltimore. Xaverian priests always ran it. The state and city contributed to its support.

It was non-sectarian. Singer Al Jolson, another famous "alumnus," cracked he was "the only son of a rabbi to be taught by priests."

St. Mary's was incorporated as a public institution in 1874. Up until 1937 it was for the poor, orphans and boys needing correction. Since then it was entirely for delinquents.

Florida Boasts 'Ask Me Another' Bureau

By William Gober, Jr.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., — The letter came from Canada and was written by a man who obviously was worried. Trapper and fur dealer, he had gotten himself virtually buried under a load of bear skins — 400 of them. It had looked like a good idea at the time, so he stocked up on black bear, brown bear and polar bear skins — a stack that in normal times would be a veritable pile of gold.

But somehow the winter had gone askew in Canada that year and it was cold. Nobody wanted bearskins. They just weren't needed for coats or rugs or blankets or anything else the thickfurred hides normally are used for.

So the frustrated fur man sat down, as a last resort, and wrote the Florida State Chamber of Commerce. He asked if by some magical chance, the chamber knew of anybody who wanted bear skins.

In two weeks, the Canadian was a happy man. The state chamber had put him in touch with several Florida sources which were interested in bear skins, including an outfit which uses bear hair to make fishing flies.

It's an every-day function performed by the state chamber, whose personnel has adopted the motto there's never a question they can't answer — or try to — if it's about Florida.

Miss Dena Snodgrass, who heads the research department as its chief analyst, has at her fingertips perhaps the most useful library of Floridiana in existence. In a matter of seconds, she can tell you how much timber Florida produces each year or the rate of its growth.

On what beaches can lefthanded whelk sea shells be found? Where did Ponce de Leon land and how many of his men did the Indians do away with?

Was Chief Osceola really a half-caste?

What was the population of Miami in 1908?

These queries arrive by the hundreds weekly. They're turned over to the research division, which grinds out answers and figures with the precision of a well-run assembly line.

Miss Snodgrass is an attractive and extremely personable former school principal who believes that Florida is just getting started as a leader among the states. She's a native Georgian who has called Florida her home since childhood.

She says she's convinced that Florida has a lot more to it than climate, tourist and citrus groves.

And if you doubt her calculations she'll dig up a stack of figures and facts to show that for all intents and purposes, its a state where work is just as important as play.

BAG TWO TERRORISTS

JOHORE BAHRU, Malaya —(AP)—Six new officers of the Malaya Regiment went out on patrol as part of a jungle warfare course at the British Far East Land Forces training course at Tampoih. They lay in ambush, as the instructors told them to do.

Suddenly three armed and uniformed Communist terrorists walked into the ambush. It was not part of the training. The patrol set up a rapid fire, killing two.

Gardeners, Stop Dreaming Because It's Time To Get Down To Business

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures

It's time to stop dreaming over those seed catalogues and get to work.

Yes, indeed, it would be fun to grow at least a packet of everything that the seedsmen have for sale — and of course, each seed will grow up to look just like the colored illustration. But remember that there isn't a garden in the world big enough to hold your dreams.

In the northern climes there's plenty to do besides laze over a catalogue, draw your plan and send in your order. It's getting to be last call for any necessary pruning of trees and bushes. Keep away from the forstyhias, or you'll prune off all the coming blooms, but it's the proper time to trim up most trees before the sap starts rising. Leave birches, dogwood, black walnut and sugar maples alone, though, for they bleed from winter wounds.

Keep a sharp eye on the perennials in the garden, for frost and warm weather will throw them right out of the ground. Press them back into the soil with firm, gentle hands. Check to make sure mulches are still protecting the growing things, and get out some burlaps to protect evergreens and rhododendron from the burning of the glare of the winter sun. If you can, hose down the evergreens on a bright above-freezing day to wash the winterborne soot off the branches and leaves.

Incidentally, remember to tramp down snow around tree trunks. That will discourage mice from making runs to the trunk. One of their favorite winter delicacies is bark. In the event rabbits or mice have been doing some bark nibbling bandage the exposed surface to keep it from drying out — and then read up on the subject of bridge grafting of bark, which will be a Spring job if you want to save the tree.

When making a garden plan, start out with a firm resolution to keep a diary. It will save you time and headaches next year. Also, remember what you had luck with last year and don't forget all your failures. Don't be too ambitious, but do try out some new things.

The 1950 All-American selections are three. One of them is the first brihgt red petunia ever developed, called Fire Chief, and certainly should be welcome in any garden. The other two are vegetables Uconn squash and Topcrop snapbeans.

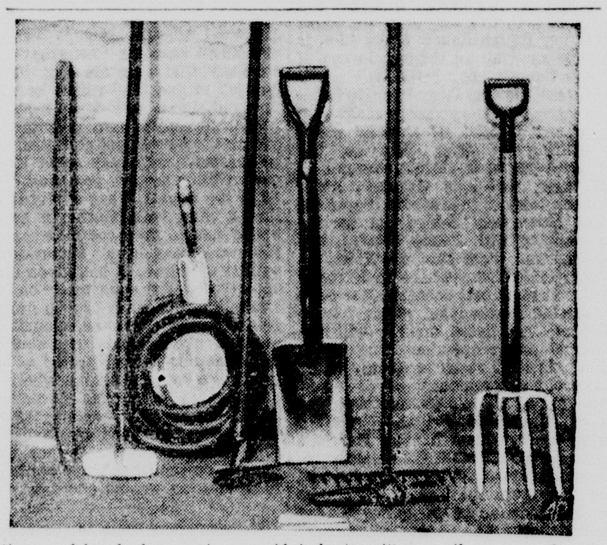
The chrysanthemum people have been developing some new strains which sound colorful and interesting. There's a brilliant new member of the sturdy zinnia famliy: Floradale Scarlet.

With all this going on, don't forget the houseplants. They need extra attention now, after the long indoors period. Give them plenty of light, make sure the air is moist enough feed them with liquid manure or plant food occasionally, water them as much as they need it, but not too much, and be on the lookout for lice, scale and the red spider.

Cope with scale by washing the plants with an oil soap, and control its development on new growth by dusting with nicotine. Syringe plants — taking care to hit the under sides of the leaves —if red spider is giving trouble. Mealy bugs, those loathsome dull white masses can be removed by cleaning stems and leaves with an alcohol-dipped piece of cotton that is wrapped on the end of a toothpick.

And finally, don't forget the birds. Feed them regularly and they will more than repay you by eating up quantities of insect eggs later. They particularly appreciate feasts of sunflower seeds, suet, bird seed peanut butter, apples and bananas. If you've a bird bath, a drop or so of glycerine will keep the water from freezing. A hand mirror in the bottom of the bath provides reflected sunlight to keep the water unfrozen—and attracts the birds, too.

And any time you're feeling low, cut a few branches of pussy willow or forsythia, plunge them their full length in the bathtub for a couple of hours, and then force in the living room.



Alcoholism Haunts Wine-Drinking People In France

PARIS — Wine-drinking Frenchmen, long held up as models of temperance, are dying of alcoholism at a rate that has their government worried.

Pre-war travellers hailed France with awe as the country where "you never see a drunk on the street." Apparently French alcoholics were drinking themselves quietly to death at home.

Since the war, alcoholism is climbing back to pre-war heights. Alarmed, Health Minister Pierre Schneiter asked one of the country's foremost experts for a report. Prof. Leon Derobert, chief of the Alcoholism Section at the National Institute of Hygiene has turned in a scorcher.

"There are no such things as 'dangerous drinks' and 'healthful drinks,'" he wrote. "Every drink that has alcohol in it—wine, cider, aperitifs based on wine or on alcohol, liqueurs and brandies are all toxic in exactly the same way."

Before World War II, he reported, France took a leading place, and possibly first place, on the list of countries consuming alcohol. He blamed this "sad privilege" on "government policy encouraging overproduction" and "the habits acquired by the French soldier in 1914-18." In 1939, he found, France was in a "state of ethylic overintoxication never before seen."

Sidewalk cafes advertise drinking in France, deplored by the health minister.

Then during the occupation, the situation was such that: "No country in the world has ever gone through such an experiment, not even the U. S. during the enforcement of prohibition."

Prof. Derobert's tables show that deaths from delirium tremens, up to 1,140 in 1936, were down to 232 in 1944 and back to 1,302 in 1948. Cirrhosis of the liver, which takes longer to show up has made a slower comeback: 1936 showed 10,945; 1944 showed 2,939; and 1948 tallied 4,3[illegible].

To remedy the situation, he wants 10 percent of the revenue from alcohol taxes used to fight alcoholism. He opposes advertising of aperitifs with a high alocholic content.

MONROE SPORTS BEGIN TRAINING TOMORROW

EXPECT 30 TO 40 CANDIDATES FOR CLUB TO REPORT

Mazur Will Arrive Today; Shreveport Plays Here Tuesday, Thursday

The 1950 professional baseball season . . . first for northeast Louisiana in nine long and dreary years . . . gets underway tomorrow. Before the week is done between 30 and 40 youngsters will be cavorting over the turf at American Legion Memorial Stadium in the opening phases of the spring training sessions, under the astute and practiced eye of Manager Al Mazur. Mazur will arrive in Monroe today in preparation for the arduous workouts which are ahead for the Sport hopefuls.

The freshman skipper has been working hand in glove with Manager Salty Parker of the parent Shreveport Sports for the past two weeks, aiding Parker in the conditioning work of the Double A club as well as keeping his eyes and ears open for possible aid from the Texas league team for the locals.

However, Al fund himself pressed into active service Friday in Alexandria and conducted himself with aplomb and eclat as he, practically single-handed, enabled the Sports to maintain their unblemished spring training record with a horrendous 15-14, 11-inning triumph over the Tulsa Oilers, their second victory over the Texas League champions in two days.

The situation arose after Bobby Wilkins, regular Shreveport shortstop, was pulled from the lineup in the sixth and Jim Novarino, shortfield candidate of the locals, was inserted. Novarin injured his throwing paw slightly in the seventh and Mazur was rushed from the coaching box into the breech.

In the ninth frame, with the score tied 14-14, two away and a Tulsan on second, an Oiler batter slammed a blue dart betwen short and third. Mazur made a stupendous one-handed knockdown of the liner and held the base runner at third, sending the game into extra innings. Then, in the eleventh with the sacks jammed with Shreveports, Mazur connected with a long outfield fly to count the winning run from third after the catch.

"How about that?" quoth Salty Parker. "We had to get Monroe's manager to win the game for us." However, Shreveport's skipper was smiling when he said that.

Getting back to the business at hand, Mazur probably will spend Monday merely briefing his charges on what he expects during the spring workouts and on Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. Shreveport and Tulsa will come to grips on the local diamond. It will be the third meeting of the spring between the two Lone Star circuit rivals with Shreveport holding a definite upper hand, having copped the initial clash, 4-0, and coming back with that slugfest triumph on Friday. Thus, Manager Al Vincent of the Oilers will be out for blood in this meeting.

The regular general admission price of 80 cents will prevail for the encounter and all spring engagements with the situation being on a first come, first served basis. In short, the early arrivals will get the choice of seats.

Following Tuesday's encounter, Shreveport, which will quarter in Monroe for the middle of the week, will journey to Ruston for their annual tangle with Louisiana Tech, coming back to Monroe to meet the Southern Association Champion Nashville Vols on Thursday afternoon.

He is a graduate of Waterproof High School and has had experience as a player in semi-professional baseball with the Ferriday and Waterproof semi-professional clubs. Mack Emphatically Puts Spike Into Rumored Deal

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 18. (AP)—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, emphatically denied today he would trade Pitcher Joe Coleman to the New York Yankees for Phil Rizzuto and a couple of "has beens."

"I have no intention of trading Joe Coleman to the Yan- said Mack. "I have heard reports that the Yanks were willing go trade Rizzuto and a coupie has beens for Coleman. I am tired of such rumors. There is absolutely nothing to it."

BASKIN'S SEXTET ENDS BIG SEASON

Franklin Girls, Unbeaten In 126 Straight Games, Win 3rd Title In Row

BASKIN, La., March 18—(Special) The purple and gold clad Baskin High School sextet copped state title honors in the class B division at the annual tournament at Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette last week-end to run their consecutive victories to 126 games without a loss or tie.

Coached by Miss Willie Edna Tarbutton, the Baskin squad romped home to victory over Castor 71-32 in the finals, to retain their three-year unbeaten record. Setting the pace for the game, towering Mildred Ragsdale scored 56 points in the semi-final contest with Haughton, and 36 points in the Castor game.

The high-stepping lassies from Baskin had little trouble gaining the final round of play. Clamping a hold on Scott 49-13 in the preliminaries, trimming Pitkin 56-27 in the quarter finals, trampling Haughton in the semi-finals 81-47, and going on to triumph over Castor in the play-off.

This unbeaten squad since 1945, has won the state B championship trophy four times and placed second and third in the other two tournaments. They are Franklin parish's undisputed champs and five time winner of the Northeast Junior College Invitational tourney.

During this tremendous winning streak the Baskin sextet has scored 6,208 points against their opponents 2,528, a good example of their fine playing was shown in the number of fouls called against them. The queens of the net had 318 fouls against them while their opponents had 548.

Ragsdale was high scorer of the year with 979 points, followed Juanita Glass 582, and Dixie Baskin 567. Guards Patsy Stevens, Frances Deggans and Bobby Jean Duchesne made a splendid show of co-operation.

This was Baskins 17th straight tournament win. In winning state titles Baskin beat Grayson in 1948, 32 to 21 and Oak Grove in 1949, 44 to 25. Oak Grove placed first in the Class A finals this year.

The Baskin squad will loose through graduation this year two main-string players, Stevens and Deggans, and Maudie Bradshaw of their second string.

There was no all state selection this year, but if there had been Baskin would have been well represent having four all-state players of 1949 on their team.

The author must have had the Baskin team in mind when he wrote these famous lines: "And when the great scorer comes to mark against your name, he'll not mark whether you won or lost but how you played the game."

Both the Boston Braves and the Cincinnati Reds this season will play only two day games in St. Louis. Each club has nine night games at Sportsman's Park.

Thompson Again Threatens Pro Football Retirement

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., March 17. — (AP) — Tommy Thompson, quarterback of the Philadelphia pro football Eagles, again is planning to quit active play.

Thompson, here assisting his former teammate, Otis Douglas, now University of Arkansas coach, said the 1950 season—his eleventh—would be his last. He said he will seek a coaching job, but did not indicate whether he has had an offer or whether he will try for a pro or college job.

Pat Harder of the Chicago Cardinals and Gene Roberts of the New Yorks Giants tied for the National Football League 1949 scoring title with 102 points apiece.

DOUBLE FEATURE HEADS 3-MATCH WRESTLING CARD

Stafford, Martin In Girls' Bout; Harrell, Wolfe, Cologne, Phantom Show

The battling girls come back to Monroe for the first time in over a year this week with Promoter Gus Kallio offering a three-match double main event wrestling show that features Marilyn Martin, Los Angeles, Calif., and Millie Stafford, Racine, Wis., here Tuesday night.

The Amazons will be the big attraction, with Kallio reporting advanced ticket sales already far ahead of any previous such showing here, but such bruisers as Henry Harrell, the "Black Phantom," Joe Wolfe, and George Cologne will also have places on the card.

Promoter Kallio last night said efforts to match Harrell, Phantom, Wolfe, and Cologne had not resulted in a definite pattern. However, they ll all be here and draw for the right to appear in the other half of the twin bill. The "losers" in the draw will square off in the preliminary that opens the show at 8 o'clock.

The girls, both appearing in Monroe for the first time, will battle over an hour and fifteen minutes time limit route with two falls to win. The same time limit will be on the other half of the double main. The opening match of the night will have a 40-minute time limit, two falls to win.

Kallio said the four men on the card all wanted to appear on the other half of the main "for the more money" offered than for preliminaries, but that they would settle the issue in the dressing room before match time.

Kallio also announced all ringside seats would have to be sold before any standing-room admissions are permitted.

"We've had difficulty keeping things straight about seating arrangements," Kallio explained. "The fans, as a rule, are nice about it all, but there's always some sort of dispute about ringside reserved seats. Often seats

NEW YORK, March 18. —(AP)— Jim Thopre, named the greatest male athlete of the half century in the recent Associated Press poll, is going to make $1,000,000.

You doubt it? Not if you would listen to Patricia Gladys Evelyn Woodbury Thorpe.

Jim Thorpe

The vivacious Patricia told her plans at the Manhattan Hotel where she and her famous husband were staying.

"Jim is the greatest athlete in the world," she said. "But he needs someone to talk for him and see that he gets what is coming to him."

"From now on I'm doing the talking."

Big Jim, now in his 60's, but looking much younger, sat back and smiled at his dynamic wife.

"The other day," she went on, "Jim got a call from a person he has known for years. He wanted Him to come to his home and tell some of his experiences. Jim said he would be glad to do it, then I got on the phone.

"I asked how much they planned to pay Jim. The reply was 'all expenses, of course.'

"I said Jim's fee will be $500 and expenses and that it was as low as that only because of Jim's friendship for him.

"Anyone who now wants Jim Thorpe to give a talk will have to meet a $1,000 fee and expenses. He's worth every penny."

Mrs. Thorpe also said plans are underway for a movie of Jim's career.

Big Jim, who had plenty of downs in a career that has assumed legendary proportions, smiled again.

He took a red match book on which was printed "Jim Thorpe," world's greatest athlete" and autographed it for Elwood C. Walters of Erie, Pa.

"Here's a scoop," Mrs. Thorpe continued. "In September Jim is going to play football again."

It developed that Jim, who recently became associated with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League in a public relations capacity, will don grid togs an exhibition game in an effort to gain the customary 10 years for a first down.

"I'm betting Jim makes the 10 years in less than four tries," said the vibrant Patricia enthusiastically.

The date is Sept. 15, she said.

If big Jim had his life, with its many ups and down, would he do the same things over again?

"Yes, I guess I would," he grinned.

BARBER TAKES COMMAND AT JACKSONVILLE

SECOND ROUND 65 PUTS MISSOURIAN STROKE IN FRONT

Hamilton, Besselink In 2nd Place; Middlecoff Trails Far Behind

By F. T. MACFEELY

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 18. —(AP)— Jerry Barber, likeable little man who has sold nearly all his fellow professionals on the golf club he invented gave them a show of record breaking golf today.

Always ready with a grin and friendly word, Barber was ready with birdies too. On a 32-33—65 turn of the 6,508 - yard Hyde Park course, his seven-under-par score went nicely with his 71 of yesterday for the 36-hole lead in the Jacksonville Open at 136.

Barber who is playing out of Overland, Mo., was not alone in the record breaking department. His 65 was only one stroke better than the round turned in by veteran Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md.

Hamilton also had a starting 71 and halfway through the tournament trailed the leader by a single stroke.

Al Besselink, 25 - year - old Detroit professional and former university of Miami golfer, bettered his opening 69 by a stroke and was tied with Hamilton for second place.

Leland Gibson of Kansas city, leader with Besselink yesterday, had his second 69 in a row for 138.

Four pros in all wiped out the competitive course record of 68 that Ben Hogan set here three years ago. Skip Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn., and Jack Burke, White Plains, N. Y., carded 67 apiece.

Burke burned up the first nine with a record of his own, a five-under-par 31, but the best he could on the other nine was match par on every hol for a second round 67.

Alexander and Bill Nary of Los Angeles were deadlocked for fifth opened with a 73 had company at 140 in the persons of George Fazio of Washington, D. C. and young Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Texas.

Sam Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., slammer, improved by two strokes his first round but still was well off the pace at 72-70—142. National Open Champion Cary Middlecoff of Ormond Beach, Fla., took 73 strokes today and at 143.

The low amateur at the half-way point was Hobart Manley Jr., of Savannah, Ga. He was one under par today for a total of 147.

The first round amateur leader Dick Montney of Florida State University slipped to 77 for 149. Favorite Frank Stranahan of Toledo got back in his usual groove to score at sub-par 71 and was second among amateurs at 148.

Scores of the leaders:

Jerry Barber, Overland, Mo., 71-65—136.

Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md., 71-66—137.

Al Besselink, Detroit, Mich., 69-68—137.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton, jr.

NEW YORK, March 18. — (AP) — Roy Worters, who helped make hockey history in this town as Goalie for the New York Americans, dropped in to see a game with his old enemy, Manager Frank Boucher of the Rangers, the other night . . . The proceeding were notably dismal and just before the end Roy suggested: "Let's slip out now, Frank, and beat the crowd." . . . (Nobody worried about that when the amerks played; there was no crowd) . . . As they started up the aisle, they heard a fan remark: "If the bosses can't take it, why should we?"

TWO TO GO

Boucher, a rather serious gent, has an explanation for such a situation, although he beefs privately about players who won't fight for the $200 extra they'd get by finishing third." . . . After surveying the 1949-50 season, Frank concludes: "Hockey on the whole is not up to pre-war standards. It will take another year or two before the kids develope that far . . . The Rangers and Boston went in more heavily than most clubs for young players this year, and as a result they've suffered let-downs and haven't played as well as Detroit, Toronto and Canadians . . . But the funny thing is that Chicago is doing worst o. all and they have more old stars—fellows like Doug Bentley, Bill Mosienko and Frank Brimsek." . . . Boucher didn't say it, but maybe he figures Bill Tobin should adopt Branch Rickey's motto: "I'd rather trade a player a year too soon than a year too late."

THEY'RE OFF A-WINGIN'

Frank Howard, Clemson football coach, has been toying with the idea of switching from his favorite single wing formation to the T . . . So he experimented with this stuff for five weeks of spring practice . . . As usual, Frank staged an intra-squad game for the press at the windup and had one team use each formation . . . That convinced him he'll continue to be a single wing coach. The lads who used it trimmed the T-ers 62 to 0.9.

WEAK END NOTES

Ray Dumont, the sandlot baseball maestro, predicts that in two decades the world series will be what its name implies . . . Ray says the top teams in Canada, Mexico, Hawaii, Venezuela, the Philippines, Japan, Puerto Rico and Cuba already are as good as our semi-pros and eventually will match the big leaguers . . . suppose they'll admit the Pacific coast league to the "world" by then? . . . Frank Perantoni, the New York bulldogs center, has a degree in architecture and continues studying between seasons. Teammate Paul Mitchell is workin for a master's degree in engineering . . . Could be the start of a business partneship . . . all four members of th U. of Texas sprint relay team — Charley Parker, Perry Samuels, Carl Mayes and Floyd Rogers — are former scholastic sprint cahmpions of that state . . . who was the sprinter who beat the other college scouts to this quarter?

Jimmy Foxx and Hall Newhouser are the only major leaguers ever to win the most valuable player award two years in a row.

STOUTAMIRE TOP SCORER IN GULF CAGE CAMPAIGN

Demon Ace Hoops 428 Points; Tech's Latham Fourth With 333

(By Associated Press)

Northwestern State's Claude Stoutamire won the Gulf States Conference scoring race for the second straight basketball season. The six-foot three-inch forward sank 428 points during the 1940-50 season to beat out his closest rival by 67 points.

Second place went to freshman Forward Tom Bishop of Mississippi Southern, who got 361 points.

Four other players broke the 300 mark in the second year of operation for the G. S. C.

They were Dean Veatch of Centenary, who got 346 points; Truitt (Red) Latham of Louisiana Tech, 333 points; Harold McCormick of Spring Hill, who got 315 points, and Joey Johnson of Centenary, with 310 points.

Rounding out the top ten scorers are Johnny McConathy of Northwestern State with 290 points Harold Owens of Southeastern Louisiana College with 288 points; Jim Walsh of Spring Hill with 285 points; and Jules (Stormy) Mugnier of Spring Hill with 270 points.

Stoutamire's 428 points ran his four-year total at Northwestern State to over 1500. He made 287 points in his freshman season, 307 the following year and a 480 last year, the Gulf States Conference's first year.

It was the first time in Stoutamire's collegiate career that his team did not win at least a tie for a conference championship. Northwestern tied for the championship of the old Louisiana Intercollegiate Conference in 1947 and 1948. Last year they were the Gulf States Conference champions. They finished in second place behind Mississippi Southern this year.

The biggest jump in the scoring standings in the last two seasons was made by Northwestern's McConathy. Last year he made only 30 points, jumping to seventh spot this season.

Centenary's Veatch jumped from 22nd ranking scorer with 169 points in 1949 to third this year.

Six of the top ten scorers in 1950 were in the top ten last season. Spring Hill's Walsh was 26th last year with 162 points. Bishop, a freshman this season, Veatch and McConathy round out the top ten.

Ranking behind Southern and Northwestern in the standings were Southeastern, Spring Hill Centenary and Southwestern Louisiana Institute (tied for third), Louisiana Tech, Loyola and Louisiana College.

Hashcamp To Renew Foal-Foiled Career

LUXINGTON, Ky., March 18. —(AP)— Remember Hashcamp, the mare whose racing career was foiled by a foal at Keeneland last spring?

Well, barring another maternity mishap, it looks now as though she'll get to race at Keeneland's spring meeting this year.

At this time last year she was training for the spring meet—and training well. On the morning of March 26, just 19 days before the spring meeting, she pleased her trainer, Emerson Davis, with a half-mile workout over the track in :51.

Hashcamp cooled out normally, ate normally and there was nothing unusual about her the rest of the day. But around midnight that night what should nightwatchman Clyde Justus find in her stall but a smart looking balck filly foal. And the mother and foal were doing nicely.

The blessed event was a surprise to everyone—except Hashcamp, of course. She had been inspected closely every day since going into her trainer's barn several months before.

An investigation of the foaling revealed that Hashcamp has been bred by mistake to imported Zorowar in April of 1948 instead of another mare, named Miss Blindfold also owned by Mrs. H. J. Andrews of Cincinnati, and that the error had not been reported.

Of course, becoming a mother interrupted Hashcamp's racing in 1949 and she and her daughter were vanned to Col. Phil T. Chinn's nearby farm. Mrs. Andrews ordered Hashcamp mated with Col. Chinn's stallion Holdall, but when the mating did not take and the Zorowar foal was later weaned, the mare was returned to Davis at Keeneland.

Hashcamp looks none the worse for her experience with motherhood and her yearling daughter is roaming the fields at Col. Chinn's farm, completely healthy and normal.

EAGER BEAVERS DEFEAT BRAVES BY 69-61 SCORE

Favored Illinois Cagers Lead At Half But New Yorkers Fight Back To Win

By Will Grimsley

NEW YORK, March 18.—(AP)—The sizzling sophomores from C.C.N.Y. staged a brilliant second half comeback tonight to defeat favored Bradley and capture the 13th National Invitational Basketball Tournament, 69-61.

Thus C.C.N.Y., like San Francisco last year and West Virginia and Utah before that, wrote a Cinderella finish to the Madison Square Garden event that first was staged in 1938.

It was the first N.I.T. championship for the C.C.N.Y. Beavers, and the fifth failure for Bradley—rated the nation's No. 1 team this season—to come through in this event.

Jittery and outplayed in the first half, Nat Holman's inspired Beavers came back with a rush to add the top-seeded Braves of Peoria, Ill., to their impressive list of tournament scalps.

Irwin Dambrot stoked the furnace for unseeded "dark horses" who weren't given a chance against the star-studded field that began firing exactly a week ago.

Only senior in the starting lineup, Dambrot tossed in 23 points, breaking Bradley's heart with an uncanny push shot from the keyhole area.

Ed Roman, the six-foot-six, 225-pound center, dumped in 19 points before he was ejected from the game on personal fouls two minutes before the final whistle.

C.C.N.Y., with no national ranking, left a staggering list of victims in its march to its first invitational triumph in four tries.

Francis Ouimet won the U.S. Amateur golf title in 1914 and also again in 1931 — the biggest spread between wins of any player.

Indiana State Takes N.A.I.B. Championship

KANSAS CITY, March 18.—(AP)—Indiana State's Sycamores beat off a wild second half rally to defat East Central Oklahoma State, 61 to 57, and cash in on their first National Intercollegiate (N.A.I.B) basketball championship tonight.

JUNIOR BASEBALL HELPED BY ACTOR

WINNSBORO, La., March 18. —(Special) — American Legion Junior baseball will get a helping hand Friday night from one of the nation's most popular cowboy actors — Tex Ritter.

The actor will appear here in two shows, both at night, under the auspices of the Diamond-Hawthorne American Legion Post 84, of Winnsboro. The first performance will commence at 7 p. m. hhe other at 9 p. m.

All funds from the two shows will be used to sponsor a local American Legion baseball team here.

S. E. Lee, Jr., a member of the local American Legion organization, said Ritter had agreed to appear on the program for a reasonable percentage of the proceeds. Lee said Ritter pointed out that most of his fans were children and that he had contributed liberally to legion junior baseball in California. The actor, explained, is accepting the smaller percentage under the condition that the remaining funds be used for the designaged purpose.

Thw shows will be conducted in the autitorium of the Winnsboro High School.

MY Biggest BONER

By GEORGE SISLER

Hall-of-Fame First Baseman Now Scouting for Brooklyn

Baseball men who saw me play are gracious enough to say they never saw me make a mistake in a game.

Those who do must not have been at Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, on a balmy afternoon in August of 1921.

The White Sox and Browns went scoreless for eight innings, and we shut out the Chicago club in its half of the ninth.

George Sisler

With one out in our half, I singled and Ken Williams doubled me to third.

When the next batter hit a one - bouncer to the second baseman, I took off for the plate, but quickly reversed my direction when I saw that a perfect throw would get me.

Naturally, I headed back for third, but by now Williams was almost there, too. They had both of us trapped.

A rookie catching for the White Sox didn't know where to throw the ball. He finally indicated that he was going to throw to third base. I was in a pickle. Williams started back to second.

The recruit catcher quickly changed his strategy, however, and threw to second. Williams was chased back and forth. Then me. Williams again. It developed into a comedy of run-downs.

The catcher was half-way up the third base line while they were running Williams down between third and second.

This left the plate unprotected, but out of the corner of my eye I saw a man in a White Sox uniform hovering there, got the idea it was the first baseman backing up the catcher.

I slid back into third safely, while they were tagging Williams out at second in the last rundown. I got up, dusted myself off, looked forward toward the plate.

You will never know how silly I felt when I saw old Kid Gleason standing there, swinging a bat menacingly.

The manager of the White Sox had become so angry at his recruit catcher for failing to tag me out, and then leaving the plate unprotected, that he had run to the plate himself to cover it. He defied anyone to try and cross it.

Of course, had I realized it was Kid Gleason, and not the first baseman, standing there — all I saw out of the corner of my eye was a White Sox uniform, remember—I would have scored the winning run while they were running down Ken Williams.

That was my Biggest Boner in Baseball.

L. S. U. BOXERS WIN SOUTHERN FISTIC TITLE

LLOYD JONES' WIN CLINCHES VICTORY FOR BAYOU TIGERS

Maryland Runner-Up; Bengals Triumph In Three Finals Matches

By Alderman Duncan

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 18.—(AP) — Louisiana State University won the inaugural Southern Intercollegiate Boxing Association tournament here tonight as Lloyd Jones decisioned Bob Gregson of Maryland in the 165-pound division.

Louisiana State won here last year in the forerunner of the present tourney when it was staged under the banner of the Southern Intercollegiate Invitational.

The L. S. U. squad, 1949 national collegiate champions, won the title tonight with a total of 34 points.

Three of five L. S. U. finalists won their bouts for an 11-point advantage over second place Maryland, whose five finalists came through with only one win.

South Carolina placed third with 18 points and The Citadel was fourth with 12. Virginia's lone entry, the 135-pound Grover Masterson, racked up nine points for his team.

Miami was last in the scoring column with four points. Virginia Tech, Mississippi Southern and East Carolina Teachers College, (N. C.), entrants were previously eliminated without scoring any points.

The decisive bout for Louisiana State was the 165-pound clash in which Jones pummeled Gregson of Maryland almost at will through the last two rounds. Gregson, groggy and reeling, was just barely able to stay on his feet.

Bill Ohlandt, The Citadel's 175-pound slugger, won the trophy for the tournament's outstanding boxer after scoring a technical knockout over Jack Dyer of Louisiana State in one minute, 31 seconds of the final round.

Last night, Ohlandt decisioned Carl Bernardo, the national title-holder in the 175-pound class.

Another slam-bang affair was a T. K. O. by Tad Thrash of Louisiana State over Maryland's highly-regarded Andy Quattrocchi in the 130-pound bout. It was a furious toe-to-toe slug test from the opening bell.

The referee stopped the fight and awarded it to Thrash after only one minute of the last round.

Bradshaw Leaves Ouachita For Louisiana College Job

PINEVILLE, La., March 18.—(AP)—An all-time Baylor University athlete has been named to the coaching staff of Louisiana College.

Athletic Director H. E. Walden announced today the appointment of Wesley Bradshaw as assistant football coach and head coach of basketball and track. Bradshaw was head coach at Ouachita College of Arkadelphia, Ark.

He is expected to assume his new duties at the beginning of the next school year.

Bradshaw starred in football, basketball, track and baseball at Baylor. He was on the ill-fated Baylor bus in which ten basketball players were killed in a collision with a train in 1926.

After leaving Baylor he played professional baseball and football.

Tyler Seen As Team To Beat In J. C. Meet

HUTCHINSON, Kas., March 18.—(AP)—Defending Champion Tyler Junior College of Tyler, Tex., may again be the team to beat in the National Juco Basketball Tournament opening here Tuesday.

But plenty of rugged competition is expected from the 15 other teams entered from over the country.

Tyler has a 35-3 season record but was invited to the tournament this year after being eliminated in regional play at Lake Charles, La.

Hit by injuries and illness toward the end of the season, Tyler dropped its last three games after winning 35 straight. The Texas team was invited to participate this year after Keystone, Pa., winner of region 14 tournament, declined to take part.

Tyler's ailing are expected to be back in the lineup and in shape when play opens next week.

Other teams expected to make a strong bid include Los Angeles City College, Olympic College of Bremerton, Wash., and City College of San Francisco.

Teams that were here last year and will be on hand again include Tyler; Olympic; Weber College; Ogden; Utah; Bayonne; N. J.; Dodge City and Campbellsville, Ky.

Other clubs with strong won-lost records include Jacksonville, Fla., 21-2; Bayonne, 25-3; Wingate, N. C., 25-6; Amarillo, Tex., 23-8; Weber, 24-7.

Ouachita Valley Has 8 Clubs Set To Play

With a full eight-club membership, the Ouachita Valley Baseball League will meet here Thursday night to adopt its schedule and make more definite plans for the opening of its summer campaign April 9.

The Monroe Rockets, one of the loop's strongest members last season, returned belatedly to the fold last Thursday, rounding out the desired eight-team membership that also includes Prarie Road, Eureka, Wilhite, Liberty, Selman Field, Terrill's Store and Southside of Monroe.

The league, playing only on Sundays, has already decided on April 9 as the opening date and will close its three-round schedule of 21 games per team on August 27.

Joe Haddad, president of the league, said the adoption of a schedule and rules discussions will be principal topics at the Thursday meeting.

SKEET SHOOTERS TURN OUT TODAY

Monroe Range Growing More Popular; Graves, Bancroft Top Marksmen

With another banner year expected locally for skeet and trap shooters, the Monroe Skeet Club's range at Plum and South Sixth streets will open today for its third session of the season.

Over 2,000 rounds of ammunition were fired last Sunday and with improving weather, the range is expected to attract greater attendance than in the banner season of 1949.

"We're improving the range by leaps and bounds," declared J. B. Thoman who is jointly operating the setup with S. K. Bernheim. "We received a truck load of targets this week from Alexandria, so we won't be running short on that score when the shooting gets heavy. We will also be able to supply any gauge of shell for sportsmen taking part in our weekly events."

Thoman also declared the local skeet and trap artists are anxious to schedule inter-city matches with teams of neighboring clubs. "We are open for assignment for team matches with any club that desires to meet us," he said.

Top shooters last Sunday were Ross Graves and T. O. "Toby" Bancroft. Graves cracked 96 out of 100 skeet targets, and Bancroft shattered 96 of 100 at the traps.

CALUMET FAILS TO RUN BEWITCH, ARMED IN EVENT

Thwarted Wins 3-Horse Race In $5,000-Added Oaklawn Handicap

MIAMI, Fla., March 18.—(AP)—Chicle 2nd won the $15,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap by a length over a rain-sodden strip, but his most feared competitors — Calumet farm's Bewitch and Armed—were late scratches and did not race.

The Argentine bred seven-year-old under top impost of 125 pounds including Jockey Hedley Woodhouse, gained a length victory over F. A. Blaser's Count-A-Bit at the finish of the mile and a quarter feature.

Gangway, owned by P. L. Kelley and under the feather impost of 106 pounds, was third, two lengths behind Count-A-Bit and two lengths in front of J. Jenkins' Chiloe 2nd.

A tropical thunderstorm during the third race left the track a sea of goo and caused Calumet Trainer Ben Jones to withdraw his powerful entry of Bewitch, champion mare of 1949, and Armed, richest gelding in the work. Also scratched for the same reason were Hash Night, Wynford 2nd and John's Joy.

Chicle 2nd, expertly rated by Woodhouse, apparently didn't mind the mud and ran well in third place until the six furlong post—trailing the pace set by Cout-A-Bit.

Woodhouse made his bid on the home stretch and his Argentine foaled mount responded to finish a length in front in the field of eight three-year-olds and upward.

Chicle 2nd's time was 2:03 flat, regarded as good considering the heavy impost and slow strip.

Claimed for only $7,500 out of his first race in this country, Chicle 2nd netted Palatine stables and owner Frank Rosen of Philadelphia $9,750 first money in the Gulfstream, richest purse of seaside track's 41-day meeting. Chicle 2nd now has earned $34,000 for Rosen. It was his sixth victory in 10 starts for the winter season.

Count-A-Bit cut out a fast pace but was forced to give ground to the stretch running South American

An estimated 18,700 racing fans turned out for the slightly damp afternoon of racing. Some 500 Shriners, including bands and marching units, were guests of the track for Shrine Day.

Chicle 2nd rewarded $2 backers $6.90, $4.30 and $3.70 across the board. Count-A-Bit $6.60 and $4.20 and Gangway returned $4.30.

HOT SPRINGS, March 18.—(AP)—Thomas P. Morgan's Thwarted defeated Mrs. Emil Denemark's Provocative in a thrilling stretch duel Oaklawn Handicap before a crowd of 11,307.

Given a good ride by Jockey Charles Beasy, the seven-year-old discovery gelding came through on the inside to gain a three quarters length decision over the heavily-backed Denemark colorbearer, paired with Bullish.

The latter finished third, four and a half lengths back. Bullish nosed out Endovina and Kontos' Cacomo, 1949 Arkansas Derby winner which finished last in the four-horse field.

With only three interests represented, there was no place or show betting.

Thwarted, a star handicap performer at the New Orleans winter meeting, paid $9.50 for a $2 win ticket.

Thwarted was clocked for the mile and a sixteenth distance over a fast track in 1:43.3.

SAN BRUNO, Calif., March 18.—(AP)— Johnny Longden rode Worn Out to a four length victory in the Tanforan feature for juvenile fillies today before 18,313 fans.

The time of 53 seconds flat for a 4 1-2 furlongs set a new track record for the distance. The former record was 53 2-5.

Our Girl ran second, beating out Alibi Betty by a head in a photo finish. Lee's Regards ran fourth. The post-time favorite, Dutch Wife, failed to threaten.

The winner paid $10.10, $4.80 and $3.90. Our Girl returned $5.10 and $3.90, and Alibi Betty $4.40.

It was worth $3,525 to the winner.

It was Longden's final race here for several weeks. He will leave soon for Australia to ride in a number of feature events at Sydney and Melbourne.

The crowd bet $986,577 on the nine races.

With better weather promised, the Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. Indians start their third week of spring football practice here tomorrow with Coach James L. Malone already terming his present spring tests the best in the last ten years at N. J. C.

"We are at least finding out where our weaknesses are and will know what we'll have to field a strong club next fall," Coach Malone said yesterday. Since 1941 we have never been in a position to do much about our situation, but if spring work is and indication of what we can expect, things will be better at N. J. C. come September."

Malone said he had no comment to make as to the personnel of his club, but about 37 boys (the squad had been culled) are presently on the training roster. Scrimmages are on tap for tomorrow afternoon and Thursday.

A total of 78 World Series games have been played in New York, more than twice as many as in Chicago, second-ranking city.

SOME 50 HORSES TO MAKE GRAND NATIONAL JUMPS

Freebooter Remains Favorite To Win Historic Event Saturday

By Ben Phlegar

LONDON, March 18. — (AP) — Some 50 horses will go postward next Saturday at ancient Aintree race course near Liverpool for the 104th running of the Grand National Steeplechase, toughest jumping test in the world.

Nobody knows how many will finish the treacherous 4 1-2 miles filled with 30 dangerous jumps. One year the winner had only a single opponent left at the finish out of a starting field of more than 40.

Almost a quarter of a million people are expected to pack their way into the course — many of them without a chance of getting anything but the most fleeting glimpse of the race.

This year's race will be a royal occasion. The king and queen will attend for the first time since 1937 and with them will come Princess Margaret, Princess Elizabeth and the Princess royal who is the king's sister.

The royal family will have a vital interest in the running. Princess Elizabeth and the queen own Monaveen, a nine-year-old bay gelding, currently regarded as third favorite in the eligible field of 54.

It's been exactly 50 years since the last royal victory in the National and no English queen has ever seen one of her horses win the race.

But being one of the favorites is not an enviable position for the Grand National. The last time the favorite won was 1927 and since the event was resumed after the priced winner has been 25 to 1. That was Lovely Cottage in 1946.

Russian Hero won the race last year at 66 to 1, and is the only former winner in this year's field. His chances of repeating aren't too good, either, since only six horses ever have done it twice. The last was Royneldstown in 1935 and 1936.

Winning women owners are also a rarity in the National. Five women have owned winners including two Americans — Mrs. Ambrose Clark with Kellsboro' Jack in 1933 and Mrs. Marion Scott with Battleship in 1938.

Freebooter, owned by Mrs. L. Brotherton of England, has been the pre-race favorite this year ever since the bookmakers began their official callovers of odds. The latest price was 9 to 1.

No American owner will be represented but Danny Marzani, leading U. S. steeplechase jockey, will have his first Grand National ride aboard battling pedulas.

The Grand National, always a famous race among horsemen, owes some of its international Sweepstakes which has been based on this event since 1931. Drawings were made in Dublin this week.

Estep and Fletcher are giving good competition for the shortstop job, and Davis and Beasley are scrapping for third. Bates and Golson are dueling for the first base assignment, while second base appears secure with Albritton.

The outfield is composed of Joiner, Crowell, Odom, Edmindston, and Avants.

McNeely said help from the Calhoun boys would go a long way toward assuring success of his club

BAYLOR SPIKEMEN 1ST IN S'WESTERN UNIVERSITY CLASS

North Texas State Tops College Class In Annual Track Event

By Harold V. Ratliff

FORT WORTH Tex., March 18. —(AP)— Seven records fell, two were tied and Baylor won the university division of the Southwestern Recreation track and field meet today—the first time any school outside of Texas or Texas A. and M. had taken the title in so many years few remember.

The reason was that Texas and A. and M. both snubbed the meet this year, grumbling over a poor track last season when they lost some key men in mishaps.

While the university class was weak—with only one record being broken—the other divisions did all right for themselves.

The college freshman class, won by Oklahoma A. and M., set four records.

North Texas State headed by the brilliant Luther Fambro—who won two first places and tied for another—ran away with the college division, rolling up 70 points to 25 1-2 for McMurry. Fambro took the broad jump, 220-yard low hurdles and tied for first in the pole vault. He was the high individual scorer of the big five—division meet with 12 1-2 points.

Baylor scored 48 5-6 points mainly through the efforts of its sprint star, Tony D'Ambrosio, and finished more than 15 points ahead of Arkansas, which wound up with 33.

Oklahoma A. and M. swept up the college freshman class title with 50 points to 20 for Texas Christian.

Schreiner Institute was an easy winner of the junior college class with 44 1-3 points. Texas Southmost of Brownsville was second with 26 5-6.

Odessa took the high school class title with 22 points with Sunset of Dallas second with 10.

Records set were:

University class—Baylor 42.5 in 440-yard relay.

College class—Johnny Slack, North Texas State, 149 feet 11 inches, in the discus throw.

'Dutch' Ricker Replaces Andy Kerr At Lebanon

ANNville, Pa., March 18.—(AP)—Lebanon Valley College today named Ralph "Dutch" Ricker as its new head football coach.

Ricker, head football coach at Dickinson College for the past four season, replaces Andy Kerr, who resigned last month.

Kerr, who served as head coach of the Flying Dutchmen for the past three years, resigned to accept the position as business manager of the annual East-West Shrine game, played each New Year's day at San Francisco.

Aging Connie Mack Has No Intentions Of Surrendering Reins Of Athletics

By JOE REICHLER

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 18. —(AP)— Connie Mack said today he had no intention of retiring at the end of this season, his 50th year as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics. He plans to go on managing this year, next year, the next and the next.

Connie Mack

Branding as untrue a recent magazine story that he was being pushed out by his three sons the 87-year-old patriarch of baseball insisted that all was serene between himself and his sons, Earle, Roy and Connie, Jr. The four, together with Robert J. Schroeder and Bennie McFarland, from the Athletics' board of directors.

"As long as I have my faculties, I'll run the club," Connie vowed. "As a matter of fact, the longer I stay around the more I don't want to leave."

Baseball's oldest inhabitant also gave the lie to the rumor that Mickey Cochrane, his new coach, would replace him as Philadelphia manager.

"If I should ever decide to retire," he said, "and that is a long way off, my son, Earle, will replace me."

Earle, 57, currently is coach of the A's along with Cochrane and Jimmy Dykes. Cochrane, fiery catching star of the great 1929-30-31 teams, formerly managed the Detroit Tigers. Dykes, a teammate of Cochrane's, held the reins of the Chicago White Sox for many years.

"Anyone who says there is dissention on our club just doesn't know what he's talking about," said Connie. "As a matter of fact, there is greater harmony now than there's been in many years within our organization. We're perfectly capable of running our ball club without outside assistance."

The sage of Shibe Park said that he approved of all actions taken by the board of directors.

"I fought them on nothing," he said. "I approved of the releases given by Coaches Al Simmons and Earle Brucker last winter. I, myself, hired Cochrane as coach—and coach only. He was not placed in the organization for the purpose of managing the ball club, either this year or in the future. He understands that perfectly.

"I hope that eventually Mickey does become a manager — but not of the Athletics. We can't pay him what he ought to be making and he can get that only as a manager. With Cochrane and Dykes and Earle we have the greatest coaching staff in the country.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 18—(AP)—Automobile stocks took the fancy of buyers half way through today's market.

Chrysler and Studebaker were singled out for attention, with General Motors trailing in favor. All advanced 1/2 point to one point.

Motors attracted strong suport yesterday morning and held part of their gains while the rest of the market slowly settled.

Buying interest was linked with recurrent rumors that settlement of the Chrysler strike, in effect since Jan. 26, was right around the corner. In addition Ward's Automotive reports announced a large weekly increase in car output. The agency said an all-time weekly production record could have been reached had it not been for the Chrysler strike.

The balance of the market showed mild rising tendencies. Fractional gains outnumbered small losses by a moderate margin but on the whole traders showed little inclination to take an aggressive position

COTTON

New York

NEW YORK, March 18—(AP)—Cotton futures were firm today, although trading was slow.

Pronounced strength was displayed by new crop contracts with these deliveries establishing new highs for the season.

New Orleans dealers bought deferred contracts with demand based on trade belief that 1950 cotton production would be sharply curtailed as compared with a year ago.

Trade buying of May and July 1950 deliveries readily absorbed wek-end profit taking and some hedging. The trade demand was associated with future export sales to Europe.

Futures closed 25 to 75 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

NEW ORLEANS, March 18—(AP)—Cotton futures advanced here today on trade buying and week-end short covering. Closing prices were steady, 10 cents to 70 cents a bale higher.

Trading was active during the short session with new crop months making new seasonal highs. Recent economic cooperation administration allotments for large quantities of cotton for Marshall Plan countries caused most of the demand.

Japan and India also are in the market for cotton from the United States.

Contracts were furnished by realizing longs and hedge selling.

Middling 15/16-inch spot cotton advanced 50 cents a bale to 32.00 cents a pound. Sales here totaled 754 bales.

OUACHITA VALLEY

tection of Bawcomville. A new plan for the protection of the Calion area is contained in another report.

Total cost of the works recommended by the Chief of Engineers are estimated at $13,900,000 for the navigation project and $23,050,000 for the flood control improvement.

Last year the House of Representatives prepared and passed an omnibus Rive rand Harbor and Flood Control Authorization Bill, H.R. 5472. The Chief of Engineers report on the Ouachita was not issued in time for it to be considered by the House in preparing the authorization bill. Later, however, when the House passed bill was being considered by the senate committee on public works, these engineers report was presented to the Committee by Colonel Robert G. Lovett, formerly district engineer at Vicksburg but then on duty in the office of the Chief of Engineers. Testimony in support of the program was placed before the committee in Washington by Mr. Wright, P.G. Anderson, El Dorado, H.W. McMillan, Arkadelphia, Colonel Roy D. Burdick, consultant, Little Rock, and C. Hamilton Moses, president, Arkansas Power and Light Co. As a result of the evidence placed before it, the Senate Committee approved the projects and recommended its inclusion in the authorization bill. The Senate adjourned without passing the bill which is up for consideration in the present session. If and when it passes the Senate, it must go to a conference committee of both of the houses for agreement on the Senate amendments.

Local leaders declare that constant vigilance is necessary in order to conduct a bill of this sort succesfully through its devious way in Congress and assure its passage. They also state that the burden of work entailed should not be borne by a few busy men but should be placed in the hands of a competent full-time executive whose salary and expenses should be defrayed by all who stand to benefit. Furthermore, it took three and a half years to get the navigation project to the point where it holds bright promise of success. Many meetings and conferences were held and some $15,000 in money expended. To protect this expenditure of effort and cash it is imperative now that the matter be pursued with all the vigor possible, it was said.

Members of Congress have let it be known that final approval of the Ouachita improvements and the appropriation of funds for their construction will be contingent upon the interest shown in the Valley and the use which is made of the present 6 1-2 foot navigation channel. Requests for appropriations for maintenance are included in this year's budget. Colonel Burdick appeared last month in support of this maintenance appropriation before a sub-committee of the House Appropriations Committee.

At an enthusiastic meeting in El Dorado recently, it was agreed to perpetuate the association and to set up a budget of $15,000 a year. The representatives of the large shippers and barge lines who were present were made aware that contributions by their companies would be necessary. A concerted drive, approved by the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe will be made at once to raise the required funds.

Among these was Ralph Waldo Emerson, whom Mrs. McHenry knew as a child. Others of her family acquaintance were Bronson Alcott whose daughter wrote "Little Women." Nathaniel Hawthorne also was among the list and all these helped shape her life in unusualy ambitious channels.

In early teens, Mrs. McHenry became an accomplished pianist and singer. She had for teachers such persons as Howard Barcalow and Prof. Basford of the New York Conservatoru of Music. Since she was 20, she has kept a piano in the hall of her home.

Good Reasons Given For Improvement In Market

By Max B. Skelton

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 18—(AP)—Texas, aside from economic reasons, has good cause to hope oil market conditions soon will improve.

Statistics on the Texas oil industry are mounting rapidly, in some cases more than keeping pace with the headaches caused by the market demand slump that began over a year ago.

The state now has over 118,000 oil wells. The total is increasing at a rate exceeding 200 wells weekly.

At the end of 1949 Texas had proved crude oil reserves approximating 139,309,732,000 (B) barrels, about 55 percent of the nation's reserves.

It also had a similar percentage—or 99 trillion cubic feet—of the nation's natural gas reserves.

Yet the state's railroad commission, an oil and gas regulatory body is having an unusually large quota of troubles keeping producers—and laymen—happy with crude oil allowables.

This is particularly true with laymen.

During the war and the postwar peak demand years Texas produced oil at maximum rates.

Prosperity soared and it was easy for the layman—the oil town businessman, banker and city and county official—to forget about the early 1930's when crude prices in some areas dropped to 10-cents a barrel before the days of proration.

The railroad commission and Texas oil operators have been wrangling over the market slump problem ever since the commission ordered a cutback in production for January 1949.

They became alarmed long ago but it was only a few weeks ago the average layman began to show signs of strain.

He has been slow in grasping what has happened in that the cutbacks have been distributed statewide. Business and incomes slumped gradually in any specified area.

But last month the commission ran out of a means of using a cushion to soften the effects of the cutbacks. The proration formula had been applied so long to cut many low producing wells.

Allowable cuts had seen the state's crude output drop from a late 1948 daily average exceeding 2,700,000 (M) barrels to an average last March 11 of 1,958,346 (M).

The commission decided a new formula that would place all the wells in the staet on an equitable basis was essential.

A formula known as the 1947 yardstick was adopted. It gives identical allowables to wells of equal depth and serving similar acreage.

The new system brought the market demand slump crisis to the attention of laymen in several areas very quickly. Allowables in these areas were slashed by as much as 66 percent. Other areas remained about the same, the statewide allowable dropped only 5 percent.

The layman is having a hard time understanding what happened.

The commissioners logically place the blame on the war and on the postwar peak demand period.

During those years the commission permitted operators to produce at maximum rates in so long as no oil was wasted and reservoirs were not damaged.

Allowables zoomed in many areas but other fields of comparable depths remained fairly low because of reservoir conditions.

The commission found itself in a tough spot when it decided to adopt a formula it believed would be equitable to all.

But the laymen found themselves in tough situations also.

When times were good they committed future oil incomes to paying for bond issues, public buildings and other projects.

No one seemed to consider that some day the pledged incomes might be affected by a sudden slump in production allowables. The new proration formula caught a number of city and county officials and institution trustees with monthly oil incomes approximating only one half the monthly payments due on long term commitments.

Residents of several areas placed these problems before the commission last week and asked that the new formula be tossed aside or amended.

The commission now must decide what to do.

Most every one agrees everyone is on a spot.

The University of Houston is affected. Its regents had pledged oil income to payment of interest on loans made for five buildings now under construction.

University business Manager C. L. McElhinney told the commission:

"Whether the new formula is fair or not, it has created problems which must be solved. It suggests a compromising solution or segments of the state's economy will be out of balance."

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

Grandfather was a thrifty soul but how he gambled!

In fact, once upon a time, all business men who advertised were, willing or unwilling, confirmed speculators. They couldn't help it, because in those days they had no way of knowing what they would get for their money.

Today, advertising money can be invested on a basis of facts—the information in the reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a national, cooperative and non-profit association of 3300 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. The A.B.C., organized in 1914, has established standards for measuring the circulations of newspapers and periodicals, just as there are definite standards for the weights and measures of merchandise.

This newspaper is a member of A.B.C. Our circulation is audited by experienced circulation auditors. The information thus obtained is issued in A.B.C. reports which show how much circulation we have, where it goes, how it was obtained and other facts that tell business men what they get for their money when they advertise in these columns.

Voodooism Is Suspected In Brutal South La. Slaying

NEW ORLEANS, March 18. A killer shot Mrs. Leo Montz to death at Montz, La., last Wednesday. Fifteen minutes later, the killer fired another blast into her body—and hours later turned the corps on its face.

The work of a voodoo worshiper? Or that of a madman?

Voodooism, the witchcraft Negro slaves brought over from Africa, is known to be practiced in the area; principally said Dr. J. Earl Clayton, St. Charles parish coroner, by Creoles, some of whom have set themselves up as voodoo doctors.

Creoles are white descendants of early French and Spanish settlers. Mrs. Montz, 41year-old childless housewife, was not a Creole.

Heavily wooded with ancient, moss hung oaks, the tiny farming village is one of the oldest settlements along that portion of the Mississippi river 30 miles upstream from New Orleans.

Within sight of the house where the mysterious slaying occurred stands an ancient postoffice building, no longer used, its handhewn cypress shingles trailing a long beard of moss.

Dr. Clayton said Mrs. Montz did not believe in voodooism, but:

"It is possible some person who believed she was under a spell or that she had put a spell on them, may have killed her to free her from the spell or to free himself or herself.

The doctor emphasized the voodoo angle is only one of many authorities are investigating.

"Here is a horrible, gruesome killing," he said. "So far we have found no clue to the killer and no motive whatsoever."

The doctor said authorities also are investigating the possibility the slaying was done by a madman. Family intermarriage is common in the vicinity, he said, and "biogenetics (intermarriage) is a funny thing. Sometmes it works out for the best—improves the strain—but sometimes it also makes for mental instability. So we are also looking into the possibility a person of unstable mind, possibly without a motive, killed Mrs. Montz without realizing what he had done."

Mrs. Montz' body was found late Wednesday by her husband when he returned home from work in a paint plant. Neighbors said they heard two shots early in the morning—fired 15 minutes apart—but thought they were fired by hunters.

Dr. Clayton said medical examination showed the first shot was fatal and that the woman died while lying on her back. When her husband found her body, he said, it was lying face down.

Air Force Hero's Wife Shoots Self

ARLINGTON, Va., March 18—(AP)—Mrs. Georgia Weidman Schilling, 28-year-old wife of a wartime air force hero, Col. David C. Schilling, was found shot to death in her home here last night.

Dr. W. C. Welburn, Arlington coroner, issued a certificate of suicide. Death was caused by a wound in the temple. Police said a pistol was found on the floor beside the body.

Colonel Schilling, 31, is in England, where he went on a special mission for the air force about 10 days ago. He has been notified and is expected to return here tomorrow by plane.

The Schillings' two sons—David, Jr., 7 and Thomas, 20 months—were in the home at the time of the tragedy. Navy Capt. John M. Ocker of Arlington, an uncle of Mrs. Schilling, said young David called him after 8:15 p. m., to say that his mother had shot herself. Police then were notified.

HUGHES HIRES CLIFFORD

WASHINGTON, March 17. —(AP)—Clark Clifford, until recently special counsel to President Truman, has been hired by Howard Hughes, west coast multi-millionaire, as a Washington counsel for trans world airline.

This was learned today from persons who asked not to be identified. It was said that the firm of Clifford and (Edward) Miller rather than Clifford individually had been retained as associate counsel for TWA, which depends entirely on outside legal help.

The first recorded quarantine was set up in Venice during a 15th Century plague epidemic.

Bott To Attend Unemploym't Meeting

BATON ROUGE, La., March 18—(AP)—Assistant secretary of labor George Bott is scheduled to attend a meeting of the Louisiana Advisory Council on Unemployment here March 22-23.

The 15-member advisory group will recommend steps for improving the state's "present serious unemployment conditions," according to Marvin Thames, administrator of the state employment security division.

The council, headed by Dean Fred Cole of Tulane University, was appointed last year by Gov. Earl K. Long and includes representatives of employes, employers and the general public.

Also attending the meeting, Thames said, will be state employment agency staff technicians and members of the governor's special committee on unemployment, composed of state department heads.

SEARCH CONTINUED

PEARL HARBOR, March 17.—(AP)—Air and sea searchers today continued their hunt for the Elder, a missing navy net tender enroute to the Eniwetok atomic proving grounds.

The main search centered about 400 miles north of Kwajalein, where the craft with 40 men on it, was last reported by a transport. When last seen the tender was in no apparent trouble.

GIRL SCOUTS MAKE PROGRESS

News Of This Growing Organization That Has Recent Anniversary

Troop 1, intermediate, Mrs. R. E. Harrell, leader, is bursting with activity these days. These girls have already completed all requirement necessary to obtaining "My Troop" badge, and have also completed five fields toward their Junior Citizen Badge. At the moment they are learning to embroider and will bring the proof of their handiwork to their next meeting to show what progress each girl has made.

Did you know that we had nine troops represented at the Junior Red Cross parade? Those uniforms looked mighty fine—sort of showed the town how nice Girl Scouts always look. Troops in evidence were No's. 1, 3, 5, 16, 17, 26, 27, 28, 32.

Troop 19, Brownies, (they're the one's who make the "Sit-upon's" we recently reported on) held its investiture ceremony in the patio of the Lida Benton School March 10. Mrs. O. B. Copeland leader, reviewed the Brownie story. Mrs. W. E. Chitty, co-leader, assisted each member in saying the rhyme "Twist me, turn me, and show me the elf—I looked in the water and saw—myself!", which is a vital part of the Investiture ceremony. The patio there has a fish pond, so we can see how realistic it all was, for each member could actually look in the water and see herself.

They then repeated the Brownie promise individually and each received her Brownie pin from the leader. The "Allegiance to the Flag" was quoted, and immediately after these newly-made Brownies of Troop 19 were completely encircled by members of Troop 20 who offered their well-wishes and congratulations.

Gifts from each girl were contributed to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund at this time. Committee women present were: Chairman Mrs. B. J. Regan, Mrs. C. E. Wart, Mrs. R. W. Glaholt, and Mrs. J. W. Holmes. Also attending were Mrs. Paul Flint, Mrs. J. R. White. Mrs. Wart and Mrs. Glaholt assited in serving refreshments of prettily decorated cakes, and punch.

Work of a creative nature has begun in many troops due to a demonstration made by Mrs. V. S. Garnett at a recent troop leaders meeting. Mrs. Garrett showed leaders how to make puppet dolls out of soap, then exhibited dressed puppets and explained how to go about conducting a real puppet show. Since then, we have received reports from several troops who have puppets in the making, and needless to say a lot of enthusiasm for this type of work has been displayed.

MUSIC FESTIVAL INTERESTS MANY

Percy Grainger Event To Start At N. J. C. April 17

Directors of choral groups and bands of several high schools and other institutions in this area have shown considerable interest in participating in the Percy Grainger music festival at Northeast Junior College on April 17, 18 and 19. The announcement was made Saturday by James F. Monroe, acting head of the music department which is sponsoring the spring feature.

The list of directors and their schools include: Miss Ramona Cormier, chorus, Ouachita Parish band O. P. H. S.; St. Matthew's choir members and St. Matthew's Catholic Church choral group; Gerald W. Mooney, band, Bastrop High School; Harvey Nelson, band Delhi High School; Miss Dorothy Bynum, chorus, Delhi; Miss Hermoine Driskell, chorus, Gilbert High School; Miss Jacquelyn Cocke, chorus, Winnsboro High School, Oscar Barnes, Jr. band, Franklyn Parish Schools; Mrs. Charles Watson, chorus, Wisner High School.

Eligibility to take part in the program will be based upon student auditions to be held on the local college campus. Those who are selected will comprise a one hundred voice choir and a sixty-five piece band that will be heard in concert at Brown Hall auditorium on the third evening of the festival.

The public is invited to hear the program that is to serve as a climax of the Grainger event. The concert will feature band and choral works of the musician who has won world-wide acclaim as a composer, pianist and conductor.

Grainger is scheduled to be here during the three-day period to rehearse and perform many of his own compositions and arrangements and works of others.

The eminent musician is known the world over for his many acts of kindness in helping young people achieve the ultimate in musicianship. The opportunity for students in this section to receive instruction from Garinger is one of the finest things that the college has been able to offer in the field of music, Monroe said.

IDENTITY CLARIFIED

Nick Slavant, who was arrested by FBI agents recently on a charge of transporting his wife across state borders for immoral purposes, is not the Nick Slavant who is the son of the late Chris Slavant.

Mrs. Chris Slavant said yesterday that a number of persons had inquired if it were her son who is being held, and asked that The World publish this explanation. Chris Slavant owned and operated the Alvis Hotel Coffee Shop until his recent death.

COMMUNITY TO DEFEND KILLER

Man Who Admits Shooting Cancer-Ridden Brother To Be Tried

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 18. —(AP)— Folks in the tiny suburban community of Coplay are going to make a door-to-door canvass to raise a defense fund for Harold Mohr, accused mercy slayer.

Mohr is the 36-year-old ex-tannery worker who says he shot his blind, cancer-ridden brother, Walter, 55, because he pleaded to be put out of his misery. The victim has been hopelessly blind for 15 years. His face had wasted away until only his lips remained.

While this sentimental community is preparing to back a friend in need, the law is taking steps to bring Mohr to trial on a charge of murder. District Attorney Kenneth H. Koch has declined to specify the degree on which the commonwealth will seek a conviction.

Koch has described Harold's confession of the shooting as a "full, frank and honest description" of the death of Walter Mohr.

"This death is a mercy killing on the basis of the defendant's statement. There is nothing to indicate to the contrary on the basis of the facts as we know them," Koch said after Mohr was arrested.

Harold pleaded innocent to a charge of murder.

A witness at a brief hearing yesterday before Justice of the Peace George J. Miller quoted Harold as saying shortly after the slaying that he had fired the fatal shot because Walter "begged me to do it."

"He pleaded with me, saying 'put me out of my misery' or 'put me out of this world,'" State Policeman Donald Wentzel quoted Harold as saying.

MISSOURI PACIFIC WOMEN'S CLUBS ATTEND NATCHEZ GARDEN PILGRIMAGE

The annual meeting of Missouri Pacific Womens Club convened in the Missouri Pacific Club House Monday, March 13th. The Club House Committee under the direction of Mr. Howard Lance had turned the club house into a Louisiana Flower Garden with more than one hundred blooming plants together with native greenery. Bird Baths and garden seats formed a border around the entire club house and received a lot of comment from the out-of-town guests, particularly those from Nebraska, Illinois, and Oklahoma and other states where azaleas and camellias are never seen. Each lady present was presented with a beautiful camellia corsage from the garden of Mr. Murray Hudson.

Plans for co-ordinating the activities of the various Missouri Pacific Women's clubs were a principal topic of discussion at the annual conference accordng to Mrs. C. W. Dodgen, who represented the Missouri Pacific Women's club of Monroe at the conference.

"Presidents of 36 clubs from cities in the 11-state area served by the Missouri Pacific Lines were at Monroe," said Mrs. Dodgen, "and a thorough exchange of ideas gave all of us a keener insight into what our clubs can accomplish for our communities and thereby further the interests of our railroad."

Each Missouri Pacific Women's club is entirely autonomous, Mrs. Dodgen pointed out, but each has a common interest in that membership is drawn from among wives, sisters or mothers of Missouri Pacific employes as well as from the ranks of the railroad's feminine workers. The annual conference is held to cement the bonds of friendship between the various clubs and to provide a forum to which each club may bring its problems for solution and, in turn, exchange ideas with each other.

In addition to the purely business session, all of which were held in Monroe, the entertainment feature of the two-day conference was a trip to nearby Natchez, Miss., where the annual garden pilgrimage is in progress. a tour of ante bellum homes and lush and colorful gardens was a feature of the trip.

ALPHA SIGMA CHAPTER OF BETA SIGMA PHI SORORITY ELECTS OFFICERS

Alpha Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held a reception at the Frances Hotel Monday night in honor of their rushees.

Guests were greeted at the door by Miss Syble Duchesne and Miss Hazel Dean Cockerham and presented to Mrs. I. W. Jaffee, Chapter Sponsor, Miss Mary Damron and Miss Joyce Duchesne.

A display table with the Sorority scrap book; copies of The Torch, their magazine; their pins and other items of interest was the centre of attraction.

After seating the guests, Miss Mary Damron presented Miss Joyce Duchesne, whose talk was on "Presenting Beta Sigma Phi." Miss Duchesne told how Beta Sigma Phi was organized on April 30, 1931 by seven young women, and today the membership is over 100,000 with 3,000 Chapters located in every State in the United States, in all Canadian Provinces, in England, Scotland, Alaska, the Canal Zone and the Islands of Hawaii, Guam and Cuba. Chapters are also being established for American members living in Germany and Japan. She also stated that the ideals of the organization are represented in their Latin Motto Friendship.

Miss Damron then Presented Miss Mary Lillian McLaughlin who told "Why Young Women Seek Beta Sigma Phi." She explained the advantages of being a Beta Sigma Phi and about their Cultural Programs, which contribute much to the growth and prestige of the organization. The Rushees were very enthused as Miss McLaughlin told of the many social events, the contests the girls are privileged to enter and of the Beta Sigma Phi Rambles. This year "Ramblers" sail on the Queen Elizabeth for England, Scotland and France.

Mrs. Betty Cornett read a poem "She Walks In Beauty," the writer being inspired by a line taken from the Sorority's Closing Ritual — "Grant us such clearness of vision, such sweetness of spirit, such earnestness of purpose"

At the conclusion of the program, the guests were served from the beautifully decorated table which was done in yellow and black, the Sorority colors. A massive epergne filled with yellow jonquils, purple irises and acacia centered the table. Miss Louise Johnson and Miss Mary Lillian McLaughlin presided at the punch bowls.

Dispensing other courtesies were Miss Juanita McQuiller, Mrs. Eva Keller, Miss Virginia Comrato and Mrs. Betty Cornett.

Rushees attending were Miss Wanda, Beck, Miss Nell Entrican, Mrs. Imogene Meehan, Mrs. Marguerite Hudson, Miss Barbara Hulin, Mrs. Dot Cromwell and Miss Margie Dixon.

DELTA RHO DELTA SORORITY HEARS ADDRESS BY MR. FRED FUDICKER, JR.

Delta Rho Delta National sorority members showed genuine interest in the laws of Louisiana as they listened to Mr. Fred Fudickar, Jr. Monday night in the Cameo Room at the Virginia Hotel.

Miss Dorothy Horton, archon, introduced the speaker for the evening, Mr. Fudickar who is district attorney of the fourth judicial district comprising Ouachita and Morehouse parishes.

In his lecture entitled, "Women's Protection Under Louisiana Law", he said the rights of women could be summed up in just thirty seconds. He said, in part:

It wasn't until the 1916 acts brought forth by legislature that women were relieved of incapacities and inabilities—until then they had no legal domicile. Then we ask the question, 'What are the incapacities and inabilities of women?" The requirement without authorization from husband.

In 1928 five main provisions provided by the acts of legislature included: married women relieved of all incapacities, make contracts of any kind, may appear in court, marital power and community problems. The husband is the lord and master of the house and head of community property. Fifty percent of all property acquired by a wife or husband during their life goes to one or the other when deceased. This does not include separate property. One one-third of fifty percent can be given away when there are children or close relatives in the family.

What is separate property? Separate property is that property which has been given, donated or earned in a separate fund or acquired by the wife from insurance accidents or the like. The question if often asked why make a will. The will is the only legal declaration of a person's mind as to the manner in which he or she would have their estate disposed of after death, legally executed, to take effect after his or her death.

The speaker readily answered many questions from the group concerning community property, separate property and wills.

The following were present to hear this most interesting lecture: Miss Eloise Helm, Mrs. Jean Boyce, Miss Mary Humble, Miss Lillie Glenn, Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, Mrs. W. J. Fields, Miss Bernice McCrary, Miss Mary Elizabeth Stringer, Miss Wilma Smith, Miss Dorothy Horton, Miss Marguerite Kirkpatrick and a guest, Miss Mary Louise Devereux.

THE CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS OF AMERICA ENTERTAIN AT SAINT JOSEPH'S HOME

The Catholic Daughters of America, Court St. Matthew's 1144, entertained the Guest of Saint Joseph Home with a well palnned party. Mrs. Lucille Theriot, chairman, had arranged with Mrs. Mary Pickford Mc Carthy and Mrs. Lillian Gish Lasuzzo to bring their company of notables who had been personally trained by Mrs. Mc Carthy and Mrs. Lasuzzo in the fine acts of a "Womanless Wedding."

The participants, all out standing Cub Scouts from Den 2, Mrs. Grace Mc Carthy, Den Mother. The scouts displayed great talent and were so attractive, some thought they were witnessing a performance by most beautiful girls.

The cast consisted of: - Bride - Miss Betty Grable Parrine, Groom-Mr. Clark Gable Mulhearn, Ring bearer-Mr. Mickey Rooney Sherman, 1st. bridesmaid-Mrs. Rita Hayward Guerriero, 1st groomsman-Mr. Robert Taylor Guerriero, 2nd. bridesmaid-Miss Lana Tuner Lasuzzo, 2nd. groomsman-Mr. Cary Grant Tonore, 3rd bridesmaid -Miss Jane Russell Fontana, flower girl-Miss Shirley Temple McCarthy, priest-Father Pat O'Brien Mulhearn.

The nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Lillian Gish Lasuzzo, while Mr. Stephie Lasuzzo's beautiful voice charmed the audience singing "Because" and "For Thee Alone" before the entrance of the bridal party. The wedding was really beautiful and the participants so talented, one was wondering - is this or isn't this a womanless wedding?

During the evening Miss Mary Ann Cascio, junior from St. Mathew's charmed her audience with her perfectly executed portrayal of the reading: "I Remember Mama." Games were played, prizes awarded. Refreshments were served to St. Joseph's guests who expressed their appreciation and their gratitude to Mrs. Theriot for the very delightful entertainment.

WELCOME BRANCH OF TWENTIETH CENTURY BOOK CLUB HAS MEETING

Colorful arrangements of spring flowers in the spacious reception rooms of the Lotus Club provided an appropriate setting for the first of a series of programs on Fine Arts, when the Welcome Branch of Twentieth Century Book Club met for their Bi-weekly meeting. Mrs. Cyril Yancey and Mrs. Morris Miller served as hostesses.

Culminating a brief business session, during which the president, Mrs. F. E. Black presided, the corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. J. Speer read a communication from Catherine Ford, librarian of General Federation of Womens Clubs Headquarters Library in Washington D. C. This letter expressed appreciation of the gift of a book from the Welcome Branch Club, "Notes From Beauty's Lyre." The book is a collection of poems by one of its members, Mrs. E. Everett Lawson. An excerpt from the letter was as follows: "Louisiana must be very proud of Adelaide Lawson. We, also, like to think that we can share in that feeling since she spent some early years in our Chesapeake Bay country."

Mrs. Morris Miller, program chairman for the club year, then introduced Mrs. Lawson who reviewed her recently published volume of poems, "Notes From Beauty's Lyre," released by Talaria Publications, Cincinnati. She prefaced her review with remarks concerning the relationship of poetry to all the major arts, and stressed the fact that poetry is always music, and should be heard as well as read. She displayed the original pen drawings by Caroline Williams, nationally known artist, used in the book to introduce each section.

In beginning her introductory comments relating to the poems in the first section entitled "Silver Strings," Mrs. Lawson asked the indulgence of the audience in going along with her in imagination, and thinking of the four sections of the book as four movements of a poetic symphony — a symphony of life in which beauty was the main theme. Her belief in the perfect affinity of poetry and music was strongly woven throughout the opening poems. The second and third movements entitled "Echo Of A Memory," and "Remembered Song" dealt with nostalgic remembrance of things past, and the timeless aspects of nature. The concluding movement, "Words Against The Night," was introduced with the effective display of the last pen drawing used in the book. It was a scene of the Louisiana bayou country, and illustrated the accompanying portrait poem of "Bayou Refrain." Another poem of special interest to members was the sonnet, "Makepeace," and the accompanying lovely pen drawing of this old historical home situated in lower Somerset County, Maryland, at Lawsonia, suburban section of Crisfield. The review closed with the poem "Notes From Beauty's Lyre," which strikes the keynote of the entire volume, and which furnished the title.

Mrs. Lawson has won recognition for her work in poetry by the publication of over sixty poems in leading periodicals and newspapers, which include Washington Evening Star, New York Journal-American, Ted Malone's "Between The Bookends," Chicago Tribune, Independent Woman, and others. She is a member of the Poetry Society of America National League of American Pen Women, and Poetry Society of London. Her new book is meeting with very favorable comment in book review sections of current publications.

Following the review, refreshments were served during the tea hour to the following members: Mrs. F. E. Black Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. R. H. Dollar, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. Thomas Jett, Mrs. E. E. Lawson, Mrs. C. B McEachern, Mrs. A. D. Booth, Mrs. J. E. McConnell, Mrs. Morris Miller, Mrs. Leola Nixon, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. T. H. Scott, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs.A. J. Speer, Mrs. T. C. Starnes, Mrs. W. B. Wheelis, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. R. Whitehurst, Mrs. C. Yancey, Mrs. Gaston Eikel, Mrs. Henry Williams. Guests were: Mrs. Ada M. Lawson, Mrs. C. T. Long, and Mrs. J. Mitchell of Memphis.

Miss Floyce Wilson, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Mr. Edward Higgs, son of Mrs. S. F. Rogers of Haile, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wilson of Farmerville. The wedding will take place April 1 at 6:30 o'clock in the evening at the First Baptist Church, in Farmerville with the Rev. L. B. Hall officiating.

HAS MEMORY

NEW YORK —(AP)—Engineers call one of their latest tube products a "graphechon" because it has what they describe as a "usual memory." It has the ability to store radar or other electric signals for more than a minute for laboratory observation. Ordinarily such phenomena fade off the screen of the tube in a few seconds.

Notes From Children's Bookshop

Did you read Angelo Patri's column on Children's Books in Sunday's paper? Well, read it! Mr. Patri is right, and CHILDREN'S BOOKSHOP carries the books to which he is referring.

At this time, the lenten season, religious books are in evidence:—Bible stories by Hurlbut, Egermeier, Hartman, Taylor, and others; the Jones books of answers to children's questions about religion, the ten commandments in pictures, Easter books, books of prayers, and others.

Many new books are coming in to be added to the stock of Caldecott and Newbery prize and children's classics that have retained their popularity through many generations of children,—beautiful and appealing books.

Why not take Mr. Patri's advice and "buy a book every month, every birthday, every special occasion, so that your child collects a fine library?" "They must have good books and parents should buy them for them."—(Adv.)

DEBATING TEAM SEEKS LAURELS

St. Hatthew's Group To Participate In Forensic Tourney In Loyola

After invading the various schools in North Louisiana during the months of January, February and March, the St. Matthew's High School debating team left for an attack in the deep South, Friday.

They journeyed to New Orleans to participate in the Forensic Tournament held at Loyola University. The tournament is open to all high schools in Louisiana. There will be five rounds of debate. The topic of debate is the national high school subject, Resolved: That the President of the United States be elected by the direct vote of the people.

St. Matthew's team will consist in two affirmative and two negative speakers, with both teams alternating in case of necessity. The four boys who will represent the school are: Tommy Elioff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Elioff; Patrick Jenevein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Jenevein; Richard Petrus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Petrus; and Joe Maggio, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Maggio. These four boys are members of the junior class and have been taking debate but one year.

Curtain Call
by Sue Williams

There will be much activity out Little Theatre way this week end. That last perfect touch will be added to the stage setting and all the last minute details accounted for as well two technical dress rehearsals before the gala premiere of Tennessee Williams' celebrated "The Glass Menagerie" which opens for a six day run on Monday evening, March 20.

With all the favorable comment going around and the self satisfied radiance beaming from all the members of the cast and crew it is clearly indicated that they are truly proud of this production. We got our reservation in Saturday just to be sure that we got the night we wanted and naturally being us, we wanted to be there for the very first night. Any out of town residents who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing this special production may write Little Theatre in care of box 1192, Monroe, or telephone 2976. "The Glass Menagerie" won coveted honors in its Broadway run and since that time has continued to chalk up critical approval in Little Theatre circles where it has shown itself to be an unusual and outstanding hit where it has been presented.

Random Notes—President Gilbert Faulk called a meeting of the board of directors on Thursday evening. The meeting was held in the den and playroom of the Dick Troy household and among important business items discussed and moved on by the group was the approval of the hilarious comedy "The Voice of the Turtle" for the fifth play of the season. So along about the first week in May, all Little Theatre goers will be treated to an out and out comedy that will tie the laugh meter for "John Loves Mary."—we are also happy to announce that the board approved a sixth play for this season, to be given about the first of June. Frances Hale of the play reading committee will be reading and reviewing every play possible for a choice for this extra bonus in this years theatre. And here's a cheerful thought, it gives your local gossip fiend, another chance to read for a role. We've been mighty patient waiting to find some part we could fill the bill for. Well, a gal can hope can't she?—Thanks to Mrs. Helen Fernandez, who appeared in our last years production of "The Night of January 16th", for the ornate and decorative floor lamp that you will be seeing in "The Glass Menagerie"—Anne Breard, who played the Cockney charmer Lily in "John Loves Mary", sailed from Houston, Texas with her small daughter, Renae, for a visit with her mother in Leicster, England. The first time Anne has been home since she came to Monroe four years ago.—We discovered while we were at the board meeting of Little Theatre that Mrs. Matthew Troy, mother of vice-president Dick Troy, leaves shortly after seeing "The Glass Menagerie" next week for a trip to Virginia where she was born and raised.

CHURCH MISSION ENDS ON SUNDAY

Father Doyle Gives Stirring Talks In St. Matthew's Here

At St. Matthew's Church Friday night Father Basil Doyle, the visiting missionary preached on 'The Church Teaching." Saturday his subject was "Heaven," and Sunday night, for the closing of the mission, "Why I Am a Catholic."

Father Doyle took for his text: "We have the mind of Christ" (I-Cor. 2:16). "Is it possible," he said, "to know the mind of God, what He would have us believe and do to be saved? That is the vital question. If God Himself were indifferent to truth we could understand His leaving us with no certain guide to truth. If He cared not for the observance of His law we could understand His leaving the Commandments to the whims of way, the truth and the life . . . You shall know the truth and the men. But Christ said: 'I am the truth shall make you free . . . If you love Me keep My Commandments.' He laid down His life in testimony to the truth; He threatened hell for flaunting His Commandments.

"Accordingly Christ provided for our sure knowledge of His truth and law when He founded the church and sent it out to teach and rule, to convey to men the mind of God on matters of faith and morals. 'Going therefore teach all nations . . . teaching them to observe all things wnatsoever I have commanded you,' is a very definite commission. 'Behold I am with you all days, even to the consummation of the world,' is a very definite promise (Matt. 28: 19-20). That is why St. Paul could say, speaking for the church: 'We have the mind of Christ,' and again, 'the Gospel that was preached by me is not according to men, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ' (Gal. I:II, 12). So it would seem that we can know the mind of Christ, the truth, if we really want to know it."

Services begin at 7:30, and the public is invited.

MRS. ESTHER WHEELER SPEAKS AT MEETING OF MONROE GARDEN CLUB

On Monday afternoon 141 members and guests of the Monroe Garden Club had the privilege of hearing Mrs. Esther Wheeler speak on "The History of All American Flower Arranging."

Mrs. Wheeler immediately gained the attention of her audience by saying, "Had a garden club member landed with Ponce de Leon in Florida she would have grabbed her shears and possibly rushed ashore to claim some of an old Spanish Water Jug and able in this beautiful country." the abundant plant material avail- She then displayed a magnificent arrangement of magnolia leaves centered by huge pine cones with an old Spanish Jug as her container.

The landing of the Pilgrims and the settling of Jamestown, Va. began the Early American Period. A floral arrangement to depict this era must show the true character of these brav. people - spirit, rugged strength, determination, and faith in God. Mrs. Wheeler used a tobacco colored earthen jug to hold flowers in shades of yellow. An authentic Sampler was used as a background and the floor mat was mustard color or colonial yellow. The accessories for this were an old wooden bowl and a wooden spoon.

The next composition was of the Dutch Colonial Period. A very rare bulb vase with a balanced arrangement of Dutch Iris, Jonquills, and Narcissi was used. The floor mat for this was a very fine white linen square and a bunch of keyes which are typical of the Dutch housewife.

With the turn of the 18th century the people of this country had gained wealth. With prosperity came an era of elegant possessions and classical taste. The fine vases of this time were copied from the urns and tripods of Rome. Wedgewood designated on each of his vases its proper use —branches or bulbs Mrs. Wheeler illustrated this era by using a fine Wedgewood vase in which she arranged a mass balanced bouquet of red bud, yellow jonquils, roses, iris, red carnations, white narcissi, and spirea. She stressed the use of color grouping and the accentuating value of white. She uses an evergreen such as pine needles for a holder in her vase. A Chinese silk was used as a background for this composition - thus bringing out the fact that the people were wealthy and widely traveled She also used an English silver epergne to illustrate the Southern Colonial Type of this period. The servants often arranged small fruit in these epergnes and used them as centerpieces.

The Victorial Era followed. This period is often referred to as the predominence of commerce over culture and is divided into three parts—Early, Mid, and Late. The Early Victorian retained the beauty of the 18th century but added romantic touches which began to hint of the gaudiness to follow. This was illustrated by a lovely porcelain vase similar in shape to the 18th century, but with gilded rim handles, and base. The flowers must be held closely together in an oval shape and not more than one half the height of the vase. The loveliest flower is placed directly in the center and the arrangement should be equally as pretty from back as front. This closeness and use of gilt paint should remind one of the importance of romance which predominated everything during this era. A finely embroidered shawl of mull would be a perfect accessory for this composition.

As the Victorian Era progressed, so did commerce over culture. During the Mid Victorian Era the White Wedding Veil came into use. Therefore Mrs. Wheeler used a white vase in the shape of a small hand which represented the petite hand of Queen Victoria holding a small bunch of white flowers, and with this she used a small white veil as an accessory. Of course red velvet would be the perfect back ground for this. She illustrated the close relation between Victorian and modern decoration by simply changing the background from red velvet to tomatoe colored rayon thus making this arrangement typically modern.

It is said that during the Late Victorian period a family's culture was judged by the number of knick-knacks they owned. The rooms were very cluttered with furniture and of course the flower arrangements and ornate vases reflected this. It was in 1890 that the first garden club was organized in Athens. In 1894 the first flower show was held.

In 1914 the first flower arranging schoo was held at Cornell University. The book published then is as good today as it was in 1914. In 1922 the International Flower Show was introduced and the National Council was formed in 1929. Up to this time judges of flower shows carried a yard stick and if the flowers were more than 1 1/2 times the height of the container they were disqualified. Since that time we have learned to use the eye instead of the yard stick. We found that the container should be simple and compliment, not detract. Height should be stressed because with height comes grace. In order to illustrate asymetrical balance the lecturer used red gladioli. With three stalks you should place one directly in the center and cut it to a size equal to the length plus the width of the container. The second should be two-thirds the height of the first and should be placed at a slight angle to the center piece. The third should be cut one-third of the largest stem and placed on the other side at a forty-five degree angle. Thus is illustrated the old saying of "Earth looks to heaven, but keeps an eye on man."

A good arrangement must have proper balance, either asymetrical or symetrical. It should have rhythm which can be acquired by repetition of line or color. It needs stability which is gotten by arranging all stems close in the pin holder. The mechanics should be covered by rocks, glass slag, or greenery.

A modern arrangement was shown using a basket as a container. The handle of a basket should never be covered. Mrs. Wheeler clipped palm leaves and budding pine to make a most exotic arrangement. She showed an authentic picture of hieroglyphics made in 3040 B. C. showing the use of pruned palm leaves in floral arrangements.

After showing some single color arrangements, Mrs. Wheeler said that in this type of floral pieces the vase must be the same color of the flowers, or black, grey, or white. No foreign foilage should be used and very little of the foilage of the flower.

An outstanding modern floral piece that she did was place in a small black relica of a Chinese junk. A calla-lily leaf was used like a sail towering above and the white lilies curved from the hull of the small boat. This was a most unusual and attractive idea.

Mrs. Wheeler closed her interesting lecture by saying that all development is a casting off. Human development plays an important role in creating. The American women will go on creating using varying tastes and materials.

Miss Walterine Howard whose engagement and approaching marriage to Mr. Clarence Pete Caples, son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Caples of West Monroe, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Howard.

BOY SCOUTERS PLAN BIG TRIP

Will Journey To Jamboree In Pennsylvania June; Many Are Sponsors

Many Ouachita Valley Council Scouts will be attending the national scout jamboree this summer because a large number of organizations and individuals in Northeast Louisiana have made it possible for them to join the adventurous contingent as it leases for Valley Forge in June.

One-third of the council's contingent of over one hundred scouts and leaders is being sponsored by civic clubs, church organizations, veterans organizations, fraternal organizations, and interested individuals.

Realizing the importance of the jamboree experience, and recognizing that many scouts could not financially afford the trip, these groups have made it possible for additional boys from all over the council to attend. A scout being sponsored by any group to the jamboree will represent that particular group in addition to being a delegate from his own scout troop. After the trip, the sponsored scouts will return to make a detailed report of the event to their sponsor.

Sponsoring Ouachita Valley Council Scouts for the jamboree are: Lions Club, Monroe; Lions Club, Winnsboro; Lions Club, Delhi; George Franklin, Holly Ridge; Lions Club, Oak Ridge; Emmett Stephenson Bastrop; Kiwanis Club, Bastrop; American Legion, Lake Providence; Veterans of Foreign Wars, Winnfield, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Monroe Kiwanis Club, Ruston; Rotary Club, Ruston; B'Nai B'Rith, Monroe; Rotary Club, Ferriday; Junior Chamber of Commerce, Monroe; American Legion (Colored), Monroe; Hale Memorial Bible Class, Ruston; Major Memorial Bible Class, Monroe; Presbyterian Church, Ruston; Mutual Benefit Association, Bastrop; Masonic Lodge, Bastrop; Rotary Club, Monroe; Aubrey Haas, Monroe; S. K. Heninger, Monroe; Dr. W. L. Bendel, Monroe.

The council's jamboree contingent will have a pre-jamboree training camp at CampKi-Ro-Li in late June and will leave for Valley Forge during the last week in June. Scouts of this region will be at Valley Forge during the last week in June and July and will week in June and July and will return to Monroe about July 10.

MY MAN and YOURS

Margene

By Margene Danch

We've had some used furniture which we listed for sale in the classified ads and your heart would glow at the terrific response we've gotten.

"Golly, Margene," Bill beamed. "We've sold practically everything we advertised so far. Great going!"

"I'll say. And you know what? I've got a good mind to sell some tems we originally planned to keep. What say we get rid of everything possible?"

He went for my scheme and we got ready to do our best for some last minute customers. It seems some folks save the paper to read the next day and we were catching lots of these.

"Bill, I've got to rush out to the store to pick up some groceries for dinner. You stay here and take care of any shoppers."

I had a lot of things to buy so I really stayed away longer than I meant to. I only hoped poor Bill wouldn't get too many people in all at once.

"How'd things go?" I asked, rushing in with a big armful of eats.

"Fine," he said. "I sold that vanity mirror while you were out." Then he added somewhat sheepishly. "I did one thing though, that wasn't so smart."

"I'm listening," I said.

"Well, a nice looking woman came to the door and I was busy with another customer. I called for her to come in, which she did. Then I finished with customer number one and turned to her."

"I hope you did a good sell."

"Too good," he signed. "I pointed out all our furniture and painted a very accurate picture of just what we paid for everything."

"That's fine," I said. "Always be truthful."

"Well, maybe I stretched a little too far this time," he admitted.

"No harm done, I'm sure," I soothed.

"That's what you think!" Bill cried. "The woman I thought was a customer was really the TAX APPRAISER!"

Like I said, always be honest!

Margene.

Musical Notes From The Choral Club

We move our rehearsal place back to the Educational Building of the First Baptist Church this week, and dig in for the final ground before the polishing-up process begins. Lots yet to be done, and minutes count during rehearsal time.

The flu and colds seem to be taking their toll but we hope to have a full turn-out Monday night, now that time is growing so short before dress rehearsal.

The newlyweds are back in town. They have an apartment out toward Junior College, but the 'phone is not connected yet. We don't know for sure, but we hope Camille will be at rehearsal Monday night, so we can all extend our best wishes.

We surely missed Mr. Hinton last week, and his folks from Fairbanks. Haven't found out yet what the trouble was, but it was bound to have been trouble to keep those faithful members away. We hope they can all be back with us Monday night.

Nylon Plays Big Part In Latest Men's Wear

"What's new for Easter dress?" This question has been thrown about by the women of the world each year. This year even the men have shown a considerable amount of interest.

D. Masur & Sons states that nylon has again captured the men's market. Nylon has even been mixed with wool to give a lighter tropical suit. Such a suit, tailored by Hart Schaffner & Marx, is now on display at D. Masur & Sons. This in addition to all wool tropicals that have been the perennial favorite and rayon tropicals that gained such latitude the past few years. Nylon has not only thrust deeply into the shirt picture but has entered into the field of underwear, sox, pajamas and ties.

Speaking of ties, for this season, the designs are neater yet the colors are bolder. And of wearability, D. Masur & Sons are showing on all nylon tie that is guaranteed for life.

Hats this year will be smarter in appearance, lighter in weight and in new tones that do much to accent a man's ensemble.

Edgar Masur, owner of D. Masur & Sons, stated that, "Men are ever seeking comfort in clothes. The new styles presented in men's suits prove this point. Coats are fuller and drape casually and fabrics are lighter in weight. Realizing this need manufacturers are doing all in their power to give men comfort in dress as well as style and quality."

Although the Gregorian claendar was started in 1582, it was not adopted for the British empire, including the American colonies, until 1752.

HARDIE TRIPLETS ARE DOING WELL

Lie Crosswise In Bed Donated For Them, Watched Through Glass

JONESVILLE, La., March 18.—The Hardie triplets are still snoozing away in Nasif's clinic here, quite oblivious to the excitement which has centered around them in Jonesville and over the country since Thursday of last week, when the last of the three made her appearance on their unique "one-a-day" schedule.

Wrapped snugly in blankets, with only parts of their pink faces and thick black hair showing, they lie crosswise in a baby bed donated for them, while townspeople and others peer through a glass door at them.

Mrs. Lester Hardie, mother of the triplets, left the clinic Wednesday to return to her houseboat home, her husband, and their seven other children. The boat is now tied up at Jonesville.

Dr. N.G. Nasif who delivered the babies, said they are in "fine shape". He weighed them when each was a week old. Jodie, the first born and only boy of the three had gained three-fourths of a pound over his birthweight of five pounds. Julia, the second born, had also gained three-fourths of a pound, making her weight at one week six and three-quarter pounds. Judy, who weighed seven pounds at birth, had gained no weight but was holding her own.

Much of Mrs Hardie's stay in the clinic, after she was able to be up, was spent in reading letters and opening packages which came by mail for her and the triplets. Many of the letters contained cash donations for the family from persons over the country, and approximately $175 in cash, plus gifts of clothing have been sent.

Jonesville folks have contributed approximately $200 for the babies, and plans are mad to buy a washing machine and other needed items with this money.

Memphis Negroes Ask More Police Protection

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 17.—(AP)—Some 600 Negro residents of the Binghampton area in Memphis have signed a petition to Mayor Watkins Overton asking for increased police protection.

A spokesman for the group said white youths had inflicted "a reign of terror" on residents.

The spokesman said the boys, traveling in cars, have thrown rocks through windows, hurled pop bottles at pedestrians and otherwise attacked Negroes.

GEORGIA LAWMEN GIVEN SENTENCE

Get Maximum Penalty For Delivering Negroes To Ku Kluxers

ATLANTA, March 17. —(AP)—Maximum sentences of 12 months in prison and $1,000 fines today were handed to two North Georgia law officers convicted of delivering seven Negroes to the Ku Klux Klan for flogging.

After denying a motion for a new trial Federal Judge Frank A. Hooper sentenced Dade county Sheriff John W. Lynch and Deputy William Hartline to the full penalty under law.

Frank Gleason, attorney for the men, said he would appeal their conviction to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals and, if necessary, to the U. S. Supreme Court. The men were permitted to remain free in bond pending the appeal.

The officers were convicted in Rome March 9 of depriving the Negroes of their civil rights. Eight other defendants were acquitted. All had been tried once before, but the case ended with a hung jury.

Arguing against the motion for a new trial, U. S. District Attorney Ellis Mundy asserted:

"Not only did they actively and positively aid and assist in bringing about the flogging, but negatively they did nothing to stop it."

Defense Attorney Gleason maintained the verdict was not supported by the evidence and that the men had been placed in double jeopardy.

The seven Negroes were flogged the night of April 2, 1949, at Hooker, Ga., near Chattanooga. The sheriff and his deputy testified they were forced by Klansmen to leave after the Negroes had been taken from them.

CAREER ENDED

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. —(AP)—The 25-year-reign of a smart, calf-killing cougar has been ended by a state hunter's bullet. Howard Bilton, state predator control hunter, bagged the 200-pound cat on Brenckenridge Mountain east of here. He said the animal measured eight feet in length and had been the scourge of cattle and deer in the area for a quarter of a century.

Lawrence Washington, a brother of Gen. George Washington, was a Marine officer in one of the three Marine regiments recruited in 1740.

FAMILIES ARE RETURNING HOME

Floodwaters In Catahoula Down Foot Or So Below Crest

JONESVILLE, La., March 18. — (Special) — With floodwaters over Catahoula down a foot or so below the crest, many families this weekend are making plans to return to their homes as soon as possible. In some sections, however it will be several weeks before waters will have drained away.

National guardsmen and coast guardsmen assigned to assist in flood relief in Catahoula and Concordia parishes left Jonesville last Tuesday. Red Cross relief activities are continuing, with staffs in both Jonesville and Harrisonburg.

Mildred Stephens, Red Cross workers in charge, said this week that the agency has spent more than $25,000 in th parish for relief, and that another $25,000 probably will be spent before families can return to their homes.

In Jonesville, some tents issued by the Red Cross have been returned. Miss Stephens asked that all tents be returned "dry and in good shape" when they are no longer needed. If the tents are folded up wet, they will rot and the Army will not accept them, she empasized. More than 850 families in Catahoula are being assisted by the Red Cross.

Travel through Jonesville on US 84 is now possible, by use of the Dunbarton road detour from Ferriday, but much water is still on the detour an on U. S. 84 west of Jonesville. The Jonesville-Harrisonburg road is still underwater at the Harrisonburg end. Barge service along a borrow pit of part of the road was discontinued Friday. The Red Cross had operated the barge after Guardsmen left the parish.

Much damage has been done by the waters to roads of Catahoula, but no official estimate has been made.

Bus service through Catahoula and Concordia along US 84 will be resumed only after the state department of highways declares the road safe, Frank Kegley, chief of tariffs, Southern Trailways, at Alexandria said this week. He said the district highway engineer at Alexandria had told him a survey would probably be made of the roads this week-end.

Farmers were urged by Barney Cain, FHA supervisor of Catahoula, to make application for "disaster loans" now so the money will be available when they return to their homes. Catahoula was declared a disaster loan area last December because of the near cotton-crop failure, along with other Delta parishes. Fifty-four applications for the loans have been made since that time, Cain said, and many more are expected because of high water.

SCOUTMASTERS STUDY PLANNED

Course Arranged For Camp Ki-Ro-Li For Harch 25 And 26

A special training course for Scoutmasters will be held for the Scouters of the Ouachita Valley Council at Camp Ki-Ro-Li on Mar. 25-26, it has been announced by J.D. Bice, of Ruston, Chairman of the Council's Leadership Training Committee. Mr. Bice has announced that the course should be one of the best ever conducted in the Council, and that a very large attendance of Scoutmasters and Committeemen from all districts of the Council is expected.

Mr. Bice also stated that the training would be in three parts, in order to meet the training needs of all Scouters who attend. The Scoutmaster's Basic, Scoutmaster's Advanced, and Commissioner's Courses are all being taught. A faculty of outstanding Scouters from all parts of the Northeast Louisiana Council has been recruited to instruct in the courses being given, and the very best training aids are being provided.

Among the subjects to be included on the program of the Scoutmaster's Basic course will be "The Patrol Method", "The Troop Leaders' Council", "Training Boy Leaders", "Patrol and Troop Organization", "Program Planning", "Patrol and Troop Meetings", "Hiking and Camping in the Troop", "Patrol Cooking".

These subjects will be presented Saturday night by the use of film, dramatizations, discussions, and projects.

Emphasis in the advanced leaders course will be on helping the Scout grow in the troop. Program ideas to be used in improving the troop will be featured in this session.

Commissioners are to be instructed in methods of giving service to Scout units in their part of the program. Information on Scouting organization policies and performance will be given to the Commissioners, and Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting, and Exploring will be included on their program.

The Sunday morning program will begin right after breakfast with a special Scout church service. After this service, instructions in Scoutcraft skills will be given and the morning program will close with an actual troop meeting for those attending the training.

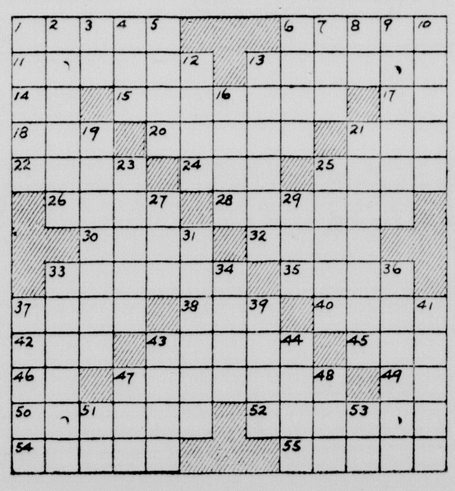
Solution of Saturday's Puzzle



Managers Must Be Expert In Artistic Substitution

It's Their Headache When Soprano Has Sore Throat Or Violinist Ill

By W. G. Rogers

NEW YORK, March 18 — (AP) — When the artist gets sick, it's the manager who suffers.

It's his headache when his soprano has a sore throat, when a germ lays low his pianist or violinist. It can happen any time, but it is often on the day of a concert; and it happens anywhere.

One New York impresario, Sol Hurok, had to go through it twice in the same afternoon last week, and he solved it by flying artists from New York to Cleveland and Chicago. Columbia artists management, once this season, transferred an artist from Berlin, Germany, to Sudbury, Ontario, on four days notice. The Metropolitan was so hard hit one day this winter by artist cancellations that it had to go outside its own roster to fill a leading role.

At Hurok's on that frenzied day, they called it "operation salvage." Vyturo Michelangeli was discovered on the afternoon of an evening recital in orchestra Hall, Chicago, to be indisposed. A phone call for help reached Hurok's office at 3:45. He called Moura Lympany, who lives at 57th street and Seventh avenue, and she threw her duds into a bag and reached Laguardia Airport in time for the 5 p. m Chicago plane. Allowing for the hour's difference in time, she stepped out of the plane at 7:35, and was changing to evening dress when it was announced from the platform that a substitution had been necessary. Th recital began at 8:15 sharp as per schedule.

She had no sooner been piled into a taxi here when Cleveland called desperately to say that a virus infection had incapacitated Heifetz for his engagement in the public auditorium the next night. The audience, it seemed, would be satisfied with no one less than Isaac stern. Stern was just back from a Texas concert for a rehearsal here with the little orchestra the morning after the proposed substitution. He got an evening plane, and his accompanist, Alexander Zakin, took a train, and arrived in plenty of time. But Stern could not get back for the scheduled rehearsal, which had to be postponed 24 hours.

Columbia's transoceanic shift was made when an operation obliged pianist Byron Jnis to cancel part of a tour. At that moment Gyorgy Sandor was playing with a Berlin orchestra. Three days later, he whisked back through New York so fast he couldn't even come into town to his apartment, and reached Sudbury soon enough to pick up where Janis had left off.

Things haven't been bad at the Met this year because mild weathed singers the usual colds. But there was one harrowing day. Trouble began at noon, eight hours before "die Walkuere" curtain time. Polyna Stoska, Ill., had to be replaced by Regina Resnik in the role of Sieglinde, and Maxine Stellman stepped into the Valkyrie role which Miss Fesnik had expected to fill. Then Helen Traubel was stricken, so that five hours before curtian there was no Bruenhilde. With every other possible company replacemnt occupied, the Met turned to a European soprano Helena Braun, here on a vacation. The wife of Ferdinand Frantz, a new wotan that night, she got clearance from the union and solved the crisis. But she didn't have to be flown in for the assignment, when the call came, she was sitting in the lobby of her hotel.

The piano seems the favorite instrument this week in recording studios. The Khachaturian concerto for piano and orchestra, which you have probably heard 150 or 200 times, comes on a long playing from Columbia, with Oscar Levant at the keyboard an Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting the New York philharmonic. It is an animated performance, with Levant pounding determinedly through Allegro Maestoso, Andante Con Anima and Allegro Brillante, his emphsais invariably on the Maestoso, Con Anima an Brillante. The reproduction is fair to middling, though perhaps part of the fault is Levant's piano.

Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, duo pianists, are heard on Duo 45s in Brahms' "variations on a theme by Haydn." This RCA Victor album reproduces the sound very well; the playing is most persuasive when vivace or Presto; slower passages lose some of their quality.

The selections remind us again that Dvorak had much more in him than he revealed in the "New World" symphony. The recordings are good. Miss Maynor's voice is particularly appealing and the songs affecting.

DEMONSTRATION WEEK IS PLANNED

Session In Agriculture Bbuilding Presided Over By Mrs. Hilton Owens

Plans for observance of National Home Demonstration Week were made yesterday morning at the Demonstration Council. The session was conducted in the Agriculture Building, West Monroe, and was presided over by Mrs. Hilton Owens, president of the group.

Nearly fifty-seven members, representing 19 Home Demonstration Clubs in Ouachita parish, attended the meeting.

Among other business discuessed was that of constructing a new club house for the organization on a site near Cheniere lake. The site, it was explained, has been leased to the club by the parish police jury for 99 years.

Mrs. J. M. Kent, chairman of the building committee, said the proposed building will be used as a meeting place and for educational purposes of the organization. Members of various 4H Clubs will meet in the building, she said. Construction on the new building is scheduled to begin this spring.

Also included in the program was the advocation of uniform mail box stands for rural routes in Ouachita parish. The project is headed by Mrs. Wayne McDonald, member of the Drew Club. She said the stands, the cost of which is set at $1.75 will make it easier on mail carriers.

"The heighth of the stands," she explained, "will not require the carrier to leave his automobile and will add color to parish highways and roads."

The club, Mrs. McDonald said, expects to sell about 4,000 of the stands.

The group also discussed revision of the State Home Demonstration Council's constitution.

Hostess clubs for the session were Cadeville, Cheniere and Liberty.

WAR HOMELESS ADDRESS TOPIC

Harold Fishbein Gives Town Hall Addres On Displaced Persons

Harold J. Fishbein, in charge of displaced persons in Germany from 1945 to 1948, was the speaker before the Monroe Town Hall group, in the parish high school auditorium, Friday night when he took for his theme "our New Neighbors."

The three and one-half million Jews in Poland are now reduced to 30,000 the speaker asserted. The ranks have been decimated by being taken in slave labor in Russia, by destruction in gas furnaces and by migrations.

He told of how 300,000 were sent into hard labor in Russia in 1939 and through agreement reached with Russia, these were returned from behind the iron curtain in 1945.

These people can and do tell of what happens behind this iron curtain. It need not be any mystery what takes place there for the facts can be learned. The entire world can not be deceived, he said.

Slave labor in Russia was prepared for the middle class people, the teachers, doctors, dentists and educated people who would never embrace communism. So as penalty they were put to work at back breaking tasks.

One of the difficulties in providing for displaced persons and a great one, was said to be the fact that in most cases standards of living are at variance with what we know in the United States. In his crowded tents set up for displaced persons in Berlin, he said the Poles objected to the food for example. Canned goods they often refused. Some chili the government had furnished a large supply they declared was "poisoned."

Difference of habits, culture, language, make an understanding of these people of varied races difficult the speaker said. In Poland for example, there is little indoor plumbing; stock are often kept in the same house. The people were not prepared to observe sanitation as we know it.

The matter of morality was discussed. He said that when often as many as six persons lived in a single room, which might include two couples and children, that it was not surprising that illegitimacy flourished and that his surprise was that there was not more of it than was resultant. Our birth rate here is 17 per thousand. Over in Germany it is about 77 per thousand.

Tents inspected by congressional delegations were reported dirty and the American delegations were shocked at what they saw in inefficient sanitation. But they had only to visit places in Harlem and they would find conditions fully as bad if not worse, Mr. Fishbein assured.

Many of the displaced persons that have come to the United States have located in Louisiana, as all know well. They must have someone here assure a job for them before they come and a place to live. Their job also must not take away employment from a n American who is now working, it was explained.

In the forum at the close of the talk, many questions were asked and answered. The speaker declared he could not conceive of the resultant situation were the United States to conquer in war the Soviet Republic. What would we do with it?, Mr. Fishbein asked. Also what if Russia in war conquered the United States what would they do with their conquest?

SH-SH! WE WANT TO HEAR THIS.

AND NOW WE COME TO THAT PART OF THE PROGRAM YOU LADIES HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR—THE ROMANTIC ADVICE ON LOVE FROM "THE-VOICE-WITH-THE-KISS".

TODAY, "VOICE", I WOULD LIKE TO DEVIATE SLIGHTLY FROM OUR SCRIPT—AND ASK YOU A FEW QUESTIONS.

EH?

AND DOWN IN THE BASEMENT.

OKAY, START THE MOTOR.

AND UP IN THE STUDIO GASOLINE MOTOR FUMES BEGIN TO POUR SILENTLY INTO THE ROOM.

I'M SURE OUR MILLIONS OF LISTENERS WOULD LIKE TO KNOW YOUR ANSWER TO THE QUESTION I AM ABOUT TO ASK. YOU SEE, A MAN ONCE TOOK HIS WIFE ON AN AUTO TRIP.

HE WAS A RATHER UNSAVORY CHARACTER — HAVING PREVIOUSLY MURDERED A MAN. IT WAS WINTER. A BLIZZARD WAS RAGING.

TO ESCAPE POLICE HE BROKE INTO A PAINT SHOP IN THE NIGHT AND REPAINTED THE CAR.

SAY—I SMELL GAS FUMES.

YES, GAS FUMES, JUST LIKE THE ONES COMING INTO THIS ROOM, OVERCAME HIS WIFE— SHE DIED!

NO— NO!

THE QUESTION IS, IN YOUR OPINION, DID THAT MAN MURDER HIS WIFE?

IT WAS AN ACCIDENT! I-I DIDN'T MEAN TO—
